

RED RESISTANCE BLASTS NAZI HOPES FOR FALL OF MOSCOW, LENINGRAD; FOES' LINES PIERCED

U. S. and Britain Might Abandon Convoy Strategy

Single-Vessel Sailings Might Upset Nazis' Use Of U-Boats in Flotillas

Total of 140 American Lives Is Lost During Last Three Months on High Seas

Technicians Die
Seventeen Civilians Are Among Those Listed as Lost

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The menace of German submarine raids in the North Atlantic raised speculation in naval circles today that a complete turnabout in strategy, subordinating the use of convoys, might prove the eventual answer to the U-boat wolf pack technique.

The central theory in the various methods being explored was that mass submarine attacks would be rendered largely ineffective if armed merchantmen traveled singly instead of being bunched in convoys.

The discussions accompanied two fresh developments in the battle of the Atlantic—the announcement that 17 American civilian technicians had been lost en route to England, and the disclosure that U-boats have been operating close to Newfoundland.

The latest American casualties were men who had enlisted in the British civilian technical corps for non-combatant duty abroad. Their loss was made public last night by the British press service on behalf of the Royal Air Force delegation here.

The ship which carried the technicians "is presumed to have been sunk," the British said, and "telegrams have been sent to the next of kin." The name of the ship and the approximate date of the sinking were not disclosed.

140 Total Lost
Added to other recent casualties in the armed services and merchant marine, the new losses increased to 140 the known toll of American lives in the last three months.

Exponents of the single-vessel strategy to outsmart U-boat packs said that its logical application called for a minimum use of convoys, the routing of ships over a wide variety of constantly changing sea lanes and giving them guns to fight attackers.

That, it was said, would free a large number of naval vessels to patrol the areas north and south-west of the British Isles in search of submarines playing between European bases and their Atlantic hunting grounds.

If, in addition, the U. S. navy increased its effective patrol range beyond Iceland, the new losses developing bases on the British Isles, the Germans might find their North Atlantic raids much less profitable.

The convoy system, naval men say, was developed to a high point of perfection in 1917 and 1918. Its successful operation, they now, depended on the submarine's great risk in attacking a group of ships protected by destroyers.

The record of the U. S. Atlantic fleet so far in the present war, however, is generally taken here as indicating that to some extent at least the submarines of today no longer take such great risks.

U-Boats Hit at Night
Guided by highly sensitive sound detection equipment and operating in groups with the aid of very efficient radio communication, they attack under protection of night and avoid the dangers of open encounter with surface vessels by daylight.

Official disclosure in Canada yesterday that Nazi submarines have been operating off Newfoundland indicated how the Nazis probably have been able to find their objectives so well after dark in the perilous area west of Iceland.

Republicans Set Record, Take 19 Supervisor Seats

Breaks Former Elections Mark in County by One; Ashby May Keep His Post

Election of 19 Republican supervisors from the rural districts of the county at the general election on Tuesday has apparently set a record. With but one lone Democrat elected from the county districts, the election sets a record of 19 out of 20 supervisors elected by the Republican party.

An examination of past records indicates that this breaks by one, the former record of 18 Republican supervisors to represent rural towns in the county outside the city.

Roscoe V. Elsworth, who succeeded the late Philip Elting as Republican county chairman, on Wednesday expressed his appreciation and satisfaction over the work of county committeemen in the various districts of the county and city which resulted in the election of 20 Republican supervisors to the Board of Supervisors for 1942-43. In one ward of the city, the Fifth, there is a tie vote, but Edwin W. Ashby, present supervisor probably will retain the office since there was "no election" at the polls this year when the tie vote was cast.

If Ashby keeps his seat the Republicans will have 25 members on the county board.

Coward Is Convicted

London, Nov. 6 (AP)—Noel Coward, the British playwright, was convicted today on two charges of violating securities regulations and was fined a total of £1,600 ($6,400). The lord mayor, in making the finding, said that Coward should have made it his business to see that any restrictions placed by the government on foreign securities were being obeyed by those acting for him. Coward, who had pleaded innocent to these charges earlier today, was given a month to pay the fine. Last week he was fined the equivalent of $880 for violation of wartime finance regulations. According to the prosecution, today's fines might have totaled £22,338 ($89,500).

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—The position of the treasury November 4: Receipts $52,163,953.92. Expenditures $59,475,047.16. Net balance $2,527,176,325.02. Working balance included $1,770,872,668.74. Oneonta Man Is Held in County Jail As Drunken Driver; Collides With Bus

Leo Happenny, 25, of 22 Maple street, Oneonta, is being held in the county jail for appearance Saturday before Justice of the Peace Fred A. Decker of Allaben, on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. Happenny was arrested at Phenicia yesterday afternoon after his car had allegedly gone on a rampage in the village of Phenicia and struck one of the Pine Hill-Fleischmanns school buses.

Nazis Making Three-Pronged Drive in Crimea

The German drive into Crimea has developed, according to Berlin, into three spearheads: The attack on Sevastopol, a push across the Yaila Mountains to the Black Sea and another thrust to the Ultimate aim (shaded arrow) is the capture of isolated Kerch and crossing of the strait there into the Krasnodar oil fields and the Caucasus beyond.

William Sulzer, Former Governor, Dies in New York

Lawyer, 78, Was Removed From Office in 1913 on Charges He Used Campaign Cash

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—William Sulzer, 78, former governor of New York, died at his home in Washington Place today after a long illness.

Sulzer, a lawyer, was the first and only governor of the state to be removed from office on charges of misconduct.

Elected in 1912, Sulzer was impeached in August, 1913, on charges of diverting campaign contributions to his private use and swearing falsely to campaign receipts.

In 1926 Sulzer flew 500 miles into the interior northwest of Fairbanks, Alaska, visiting districts never before touched by airplanes.

Sulzer, always a Tammany man, was elected with that organization's support, but soon after his election rumors of his disagreement with Tammany chiefs became current. Strife continued in the organization and reached its climax with the initial move for Sulzer's impeachment.

The Legislature was in special session to act upon another matter at the time impeachment proceedings were started. A question arose concerning the legality of consideration of any matter other than that for which the extra session was called. The dispute was carried to the courts and the constitutionality of legislative action on the impeachment proceedings was sustained.

The Assembly, taking action corresponding to that of a grand jury, instituted the impeachment, and the Senate approved and organized an impeachment court. The proceedings were marked by the testimony of persons prominent in political affairs and included evidence supplied by a New York evidence.

Sulzer, leaving the Capitol in midsummer of 1913, returned the following year as a member of the Assembly representing a Manhattan district. In 1916 he was nominated for the presidency on the American party ticket, but declined. He continued, however, to be prominent in Washington political circles.

Last 'Lap' of Tunnel Work Gets Under Way

Mason & Hanger Co., Inc., on October 15, started the excavation of the last remaining 4,787 linear feet of the Rondout-West Branch tunnel south of Shaft 1 which when finished will complete the entire excavation of the 85 miles of the main Delaware aqueduct from the Rondout Reservoir to the New York city line.

The driving of this heading will complete the big excavation job on the main aqueduct.

Pulling Is Given Contract by B.W.S.

Ellenville Funeral Director Will Take Out 333 Bodies in Graves

To Leland P. Pulling of 79 North Main street, Ellenville, funeral director, has been awarded the contract for removal of approximately 333 bodies from the Porter Burying Ground located in the Rondout reservoir basin on the Sundown road near Eureka. Removal of the bodies will be required prior to the flooding of the basin by New York city as a part of the Rondout-Delaware reservoir project.

The Board of Water Supply received bids for the work from six firms and Mr. Pulling's bid of $3,134.70 was low. The award was made to Mr. Pulling as low bidder and the contract calls for completion of the work by December 17 of this year.

When the City of New York entered the area to construct the Lackawack dam and impound waters of the Rondout in the valley it became necessary to evacuate many residents of the valley and also to remove from the area all cemeteries. The Porter Burying Ground located near Eureka in the town of Neversink, Sullivan county, at that time contained approximately 1,020 interments together with 473 gravestones, 526 footstones and 78 monuments, all of which have since been removed by relatives of deceased or other parties through arrangements made with the board, with the exception of the remaining 333 bodies, nine gravestones and one footstone.

For the removal of these remaining bodies a contract was drawn up and bids asked. The contract calls for the removal of the bodies and markers and the reinterment of the bodies in the Fairview Cemetery at Stone Ridge, in the town of Marlborough. The plot where these bodies will be reinterred has been secured by the City of New York for that purpose.

As in the case of similar work in the Esopus and Schoharie watersheds, and more recently in connection with the removals by private parties in the Rondout area, the agreement under which Mr. Pulling will operate contains the same rigid specifications that the work must be carried on in a seemingly and befitting manner and with all due regard to proprieties.

This work is classified under three items. For opening the graves in the Porter Burying Grounds and reintering them after

Hicks Case Heads Criminal Calendar In County Court

Sixty Cases Are Listed; Court Convenes Monday; Trapario Will Be Given Trial

Heading the criminal calendar of 60 cases which will be taken up for disposition beginning Monday morning, next, at 10 o'clock before County Judge J. Edward Conway is the murder, first degree, indictment against Edward F. Hicks, who is charged with the fatal shooting of his wife at Lomontville on September 23. Hicks was confined to the hospital following the shooting suffering from self-inflicted wounds and while confined to the hospital was arraigned at the hospital before Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick under a formal bill charging first degree murder.

Hicks pleaded innocent to the charge and Captain Edwig was assigned as defense counsel by the court when Justice Schirick was informed by Hicks that he had no means of obtaining counsel.

The charge is that Hicks shot his wife, the former Margery LeBlanc with whom he had resided in Schenectady.

The second case on the calendar is the second degree murder charge against Salvatore Trapario, who allegedly shot to death Joseph Ballo at Tuckers Corners in the town of Lloyd on November 10, 1922, and then disappeared. He was arrested at Sacramento, Calif., where he was residing with his wife and returned late this summer to Ulster county to face the old indictment which was handed up by the grand jury on December 20, 1922. Trapario is charged with having shot Ballo with a shot gun in a field near the Trapario home following an argument.

Whether the Hicks case will be disposed of at this time will depend upon whether counsel assigned has had sufficient time to prepare a defense.

Other criminal cases, which will be taken up as nearly as possible in the order in which they appear on the calendar are:

Special Japanese Envoy Brings Peace Plan to U.S.

Litvinoff Is New Red Ambassador To United States

Former Soviet Commissar of Foreign Affairs Is to Replace Oumansky at Early Date

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Maxim M. Litvinoff, an old-time advocate of Soviet collaboration with the western democracies, will become Russian ambassador to the United States at an early date.

Authoritative sources said today that Litvinoff, former people's commissar for foreign affairs, had been chosen to succeed Constantine Oumansky, who is now in Russia.

Litvinoff, when foreign minister, personally negotiated with President Roosevelt at Washington, United States recognition of Russia in 1933, after a lapse in diplomatic relations of 20 years. Since 1939, however, he has been in the background of Soviet politics due to his opposition to collaboration with Germany.

Besides, Oumansky there has been only one other Soviet ambassador to Washington, Alexander A. Troyanovsky, who took over the post immediately upon recognition eight years ago.

During his term of office as foreign affairs commissar, Litvinoff was the outstanding exponent of Soviet collaboration with the western democracies. It was his voice that was most often heard in Geneva, during sessions of the League of Nations, urging united action against aggressors and proclaiming the "indivisibility of peace."

Collective security was his crusade, and he seldom missed an opportunity to denounce what he termed the apathy of the other great powers toward Japanese aggression in the Far East, Mussolini's aggression in East Africa and the aggressive policy of Hitler Germany.

One of Litvinoff's last formal condemnations of the aggressor was contained in a Soviet note of protest against Germany's seizure of Czechoslovakia in March, 1939, which he described as "a fresh blow to the security of peoples."

A few weeks later, on May 3, 1939, Litvinoff suddenly was removed from office. Stalin volunteered no explanation for this move, and even the fate of Litvinoff himself was shrouded in secrecy for some time after which it appeared that he had been merely shelved but not definitely liquidated.

Experienced observers of Soviet affairs suspected once that Litvinoff's removal was a preliminary step toward rapprochement between Stalin and Hitler—an interpretation ridiculed in some quarters outside of Russia but later substantiated when, in August of the same year, the Russo-German non-aggression pact was signed and Stalin a few weeks later participated with Hitler in the dismemberment of Poland.

Litvinoff's return to the spotlight as ambassador to the United States would indicate, in the light of his previous removal to make room for the Hitler-Stalin rapprochement, the great importance which Stalin now attaches to close collaboration with the United States.

Mikado Has Approved Plan, Report Says, for Settlement of Differences

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Saburo Kurosu, the special Japanese envoy en route here on a Pacific clipper, was reported today to be bearing an imperially-approved formula for a peaceful settlement of Japanese-American problems.

Kurosu's dispatch came, diplomatic circles here said, also may enclose a personal message from Premier General Hideki Tojo to President Roosevelt presenting the Japanese government's view of the tense Far-Eastern situation and proposals designed to assure what Japan considers an amicable solution.

A personal message from former Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye to the President last August opened the way for "exploratory talks" on the problems — talks which still continue intermittently between Secretary Hull and Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese ambassador.

Secretary Hull and other state department officials profess, however, to have no authoritative information of Kurosu's mission, or what proposals he may be bringing from the Japanese government.

Official reaction was summed up: Wait and see.

Since the entire field of Japanese-American relations has been explored in nearly a hundred discussions, here and in Tokyo, there was little optimism in diplomatic quarters that Kurosu's mission would break the deadlock resulting from sharply divergent policies pursued by the United States and Japan in the Far East.

The President, Secretary Hull, and other American officials have given no indication that the United States would modify its policy against aggression in the Orient, and appease Japan.

On the contrary, it was pointed out, the United States has redoubled efforts to provide Soviet Russia and China with all possible assistance in their respective struggles against German and Japanese invasion.

Ecker Arrest May Clear Up Theft

Pennsylvanian Confesses, Metzger Says; Another Man Is Involved

The arrest of Claude Ecker, Jr., 22, of 208 Summer street, Royerford, Pa., by State Trooper John Metzger and Lynn Baker of the B.C.I. yesterday is expected to clear up two crimes committed in Ulster county on October 16 when the garage of Kenneth Phillips at the Minnevaska Trail Hotel was entered and the car of John Lauro of Eureka was stolen.

Trooper Metzger said that Ecker, who according to the records has been involved in similar affairs in Pennsylvania, had made a confession which involved another man who is still to be apprehended.

On October 16 Mr. Phillips notified the state police that his garage had been entered and gasoline, (Continued on Page Two)

Wallace Would Convince Legislators To Accept 100 Per Cent Parity Limit

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Vice President Wallace was reported today to be taking a leading role in attempts to convince farm state legislators that they ought to accept 100 per cent parity as the ceiling for agricultural commodities in pending price control legislation.

Wallace was said to have enlisted the support of some conservative farm state congressmen for pegging farm prices at the 1909-14 purchasing power level established as parity for major crops.

The Vice President was represented as contending that farmers should not be placed in the position of appearing to be grabbing all the price gains.

The pending price control bill, approved by the House banking committee, would ban any farm price ceiling below 110 per cent of parity, the market price on October 1 or the average price in the 1919-29 period, whichever was the highest.

Wallace's reported contention that 100 per cent of parity would give farmers a fair return, if other prices were likewise controlled, was shared by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, Wallace's successor in that post. But there still was no indication that President Roosevelt had expressed a view on the subject, even privately.

German To Use Only Land Units

Planes Are Being Sent Back From Capital Fronts; Stalin Gives Broadcast

Blitz Has Failed

Red Leader Says Nazi Losses Total About 4,500,000

(By The Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's boast that German victory would attend the drive on Moscow in the "last great, decisive battle of this year" has been exploded by tenacious Soviet resistance, informed London quarters said today, declaring that the fuhrer has now abandoned hope of capturing either Moscow or Leningrad this winter.

On the fighting front, masses of Russian reserves were reported to have broken through Nazi siege lines before the U. S. S. R. capital, while on the southern (Ukraine) front, Soviet dispatches said the Germans were retreating from a corpse-strewn zone of the Donets river basin.

Informed quarters in London said the German air force was withdrawing most of its planes from the Moscow, Leningrad and far north fronts, leaving land forces to carry on a "defensive" winter campaign.

Stalin Gives Broadcast
In a broadcast from Moscow, on the eve of the 24th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, Premier Joseph Stalin said German losses in the four-months old struggle had reached 4,500,000 killed, wounded and captured.

Stalin declared flatly that "the blitzkrieg has failed," but with an evident reference to Great Britain, he complained that "one of the chief factors facing the Red army at the present moment is the lack of a second front in Europe."

Soviet newspapers have repeatedly urged Britain to establish a new front either by invading the continent across the English Channel or striking from the Middle East.

"Feeling assured that they would not be attacked on the western front, the Germans are throwing in the bulk of their forces in the east," Stalin said.

Altogether, the picture was among the brightest yet painted for Russia's defense armies.

Even in the Crimea, latest advances reaching London indicated that the Germans had made little progress toward the great Black Sea naval base of Sevastopol since last Sunday, when they were reported only 20 miles away.

A British military observer went so far as to declare Sevastopol might withstand siege indefinitely, reporting that the city of 80,000 was defended by well-supplied troops manning "very strongly fortified positions."

He said the stronghold could become "another Odessa, perhaps with not the same results"—referring to the long defense of the Ukraine mainland port against German and Rumanian siege armies. Odessa finally surrendered in mid-October.

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters declared that pursuit of "the beaten enemy" was continuing along the entire Crimean front and asserted that Soviet resistance had been broken in the mountains east of Sevastopol.

Reiterating yesterday's claim of a break-through to the Black Sea, the high command said German and Rumanian troops defeated isolated Red army units in the Yaila mountains and "pushed through a broad front" to the coastal region between Yalta and Feodosiya.

On the central front, authoritative London quarters said the 36-day-old German drive on Moscow was now "very definitely held."

Newsreels Stress Hazards

German newsreels from the front significantly stressed the hazards and difficulties of assaulting the U. S. S. R. capital, displaying diagrams and pictures of Moscow's five-ply outer defense system—successive barriers of flame-throwers, tank traps and barbed wire, a moat, more tank traps and barbed-wire entanglements, and finally bunkers.

The government-controlled Moscow radio said the Germans were fleeing from an unspecified Donets river battlefield "leaving behind them heaps of dead and many guns." Much of the bitterest (Continued on Page Two)

Lesser Wage Case Hearing Deferred Until November 29

Charles Lesser, 30, of Brooklyn, one of the proprietors of the defunct Eastern Garment Co., Inc., dress factory at 40 Broadway, had his hearing adjourned to Saturday morning, November 29, when arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court today.

The reason for the further adjournment was due to the fact that Lesser as yet had been unable to raise funds to reimburse the employees at the factory.

Lesser was remanded to the county jail where he has been held since he was first arrested several weeks ago.

When the case was called this morning in police court Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who represents Lesser, informed Judge Matthew V. Cahill that he had received a letter from the mother of the defendant stating that she had been unable to raise the money to pay the wages of the girls who had been employed at the plant.

Under the circumstances it was decided to have the hearing adjourned to the latter part of the month while efforts were continued to raise the money needed.

When the employees of the defunct dress factory reported for work in May, 1940, it was to find the plant closed and Lesser out of town. According to the girls there is approximately $1,500 due in back wages.

The district attorney's office was represented this morning by Attorney Richard Overbagh.

City Quarantine On Dogs to Stay

No New Cases of Rabies Reported, However

Although no new cases of rabies among dogs have been reported in Kingston the dog quarantine will remain in force until early in January. If any new cases develop between now and then the quarantine will automatically be extended.

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, in response to questions today called attention to the fact that the last case of rabies in the city was reported July 5, and that between January and July there had been found six rabid dogs in the city, all of them having been killed.

If no new cases of rabies develop in the city, it is expected that the state health department will raise the ban next January 5. Usually when a case of rabies develops the ban is enforced for a period of six months.

Ancient Secrets of Orient Unearthed

Rare Discoveries Are Made by Harvard Scientists.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—Secrets of Oriental tombs sealed 2,000 years ago in Indo-China, with clues to the little-known sphere of the old Chinese civilization, have been unearthed by a Harvard-Yenching Institute expedition.

Archaeologists under the direction of Prof. G. T. J. Janse, research fellow at the institute, dug for two years in various sections of Indo-China and in a Fifteenth century graveyard in the Philippines to obtain a rare collection of antiquities, including jewels, weapons, bronzes, ceramics and coins.

Efforts of southern Chinese natives to prevent excavation because they feared to disturb spirits of their ancestors convinced Prof. Janse that Indo-China's soil concealed important souvenirs interpretative of the older southern Chinese civilization.

The expedition first opened large brick tombs of the Han dynasty in northern Annam and found jars, vases, cups, plates and house models in red, white and gray ceramics. Exquisite bronze mirrors, cups, coins, iron tools, weapons, slate palates and glass beads were included in the precious finds.

In central Annam, large burial urns from the First Century A. D. were excavated. In these were bones, earthenware vessels, beads, bronze rattles and iron tools. Down in southern Annam, the scientists dug in sand dunes and brought to light objects dating from the Seventh to Fifteenth centuries belonging to the Tang, Sung and Ming dynasties.

When heavy rains and landslides halted further diggings in Annam, the party went to the Philippines to excavate little-known graveyards of the early Ming period.

Young Couple Pedals on 3,000-Mile Vacation Trip

SALT LAKE CITY.—A young San Francisco couple, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Macdonald, aren't worried about any restrictions on gasoline.

The Macdonalds visited Salt Lake City on the last leg of a 3,000-mile vacation trip. They made the tour on bicycles—three-speed, gear-shifting vehicles that permitted them to travel about 50 miles a day, even in mountainous country.

Leaving San Francisco in May, they pedaled north through Oregon and Washington and then ferried to Vancouver island for a cycling tour there. Later, they headed east to Banff, and then returned to the United States on the famous "Highway to the Sun" in Montana.

Their itinerary brought them south through Idaho to Salt Lake City, and from here they pointed west toward Reno, where a side trip to Lake Tahoe was scheduled. Macdonald and his wife were enthusiastic about the cycle as a mode of travel. "We're having a swell time," he said. "We've seen a lot of things which people riding in automobiles never see, and we've

Entire Club of 12 Lads Join the Navy Together

WASHINGTON.—Twelve youths of 17 to 19 years of age, members of the same club at Covington, Ky., have transferred their club bodily into the navy.

The youths had formed an association known as the Kentucky Dew Drop Inn club. They offered themselves for enlistment at Covington and were enrolled in the navy in the Cincinnati recruiting office. All are at the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

The navy announced the names of the unusual group as follows: James W. Emerson, Jesse E. Lump, Earl W. Geiger, Robert F. Lenhoff, Paul J. Brinkman, Bruce Bush, Robert J. Brennan, Paul Simpson, Arthur F. Waskley, Daniel W. Boone, Arthur L. Plybon and Charles J. Jump.

Selectee Finally Learns That He's 38 Years Old

RIVERSIDE, CALIF.—William L. Marks of Flemington, W. Va., is wiser and older—three years older in fact—than when he was inducted into the army February 14.

Marks applied for a discharge when the war department authorized release of drafted men over 28 years old. To expedite matters, he sent for his birth certificate.

It arrived yesterday and Marks discovered he is 38 years old and wasn't eligible for the draft in the first place.

British Tailors Seek Ways of Saving Cloth

LONDON.—Britain's tailoring chiefs have secret talks, trying to devise a "coupon suit."

The idea of the "coupon suit" would be to save material. Suggestions that trouser cuffs, pocket flaps and jacket lapels should be abolished were being considered. But the verdict, for the time being, is a secret.

Red Resistance Blasts Nazi Hopes

fighting in the 670-mile-long basin has centered about Rostov-on-Don, gateway to the Caucasus oil fields.

A British broadcast said German armies driving into the central Donets region were being held up short of Voroshilovgrad, 70 Stalino and almost due north of Rostov.

The Soviet radio said the battle of Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow, continued to rage "but the enemy is not fighting with the same ardor as when he began the offensive."

There were indications that Siberia-trained Red army reserves, some 200,000 of them now reported fighting on the Moscow front, may have turned the tide in that all-important struggle. The Russians said German soldiers were again entrenching defensively and half burying tanks to use as pillboxes against Soviet counter-attacks.

An old wound in the Pacific was reopened by the sinking of the Japanese steamer Kibi Maru in the Sea of Japan with 17 dead and 10 seriously wounded reported so far by Domei.

The Japanese government, which has protested to Soviet Russia before over loose Russian mines in those waters, protested again to the Russians that a mine was responsible.

At greatly strengthened Singapore, a troopship convoy landed several thousands of British reinforcements, including airmen, infantry, anti-aircraft and searchlight units and reinforcements for auxiliary services.

Why the Taster Swishes

New York (AP)—There's an important reason why wine tasters swirl the liquid in their glass before sniffing it to determine bouquet, according to Dr. A. J. Liebmam, head of the technical department of a large distillery. Swirling deposits a light film around the edge of the glass, and the taster sniffs the wine-laden fumes as the rise.

England now has women bricklayers.

Ecker Arrest May Clear Up Theft

oil and chains had been taken. Plates from a car parked outside the garage were also missing. At the same time the Oldsmobile sedan of John Lauro of Eureka was missed.

The investigation at that time led to Kingston where the Kingston police informed the troopers that Claude Ecker, Jr., had been under arrest on a charge of vagrancy and that at that time his finger prints had been taken. He was arrested here on October 14 and released on October 16. The finger prints showed that Ecker had been in difficulty on several occasions in Pennsylvania for acts of a similar nature and when it became known that Ecker had been involved in former car thefts about Norristown, Pa., an alarm was sent out for his apprehension.

Tuesday the troopers were notified that Ecker had been apprehended by Pennsylvania state police at Collegeville, Pa., and Troopers Metzger and Baker went there and took him into custody.

Trooper Metzger said that Ecker had told him that he and another man, John Lewis, had entered the Phillips garage and also taken the car in Ellenville. That after the thefts they had driven to Pennsylvania where they separated. Trooper Metzger said the statement of Ecker admitted that Lewis had kept the car while Ecker had returned to Pottstown, Pa. A search is being made for Lewis.

Ecker was charged with grand larceny, second degree, and will be taken today for arraignment before Justice of the Peace Herman Cohen at Ellenville from whom the warrant of arrest was secured.

Will Case Starts Before Surrogate

Will of Late G. A. Irwin Is Being Contested

The October trial term of Supreme Court having been concluded by Justice Harry E. Schirick on Wednesday, the jurors were retained today in order to select a jury to hear a will contest case before Surrogate Harry H. Fleming.

The will of the late George A. Irwin of the town of Denning, which was executed by the 80-year-old resident of the town of February 3, 1940, shortly before his death, is being offered for probate by the executors. Contest is being made by members of the family on the grounds that at the time of the execution of the will he was not capable of making a will.

H. Westlake Coons of Ellenville, attorney for the proponents and a witness to the will, appears for the proponents and Thomas J. Plunket appears for contestants. Mr. Coons was the first witness. He testified that he had known Mr. Irwin for some time and had drawn prior wills. On the day the present will was executed Mr. Irwin, who was residing with a niece at Claryville, came to his office with Percy Bunten, a relative, and asked that a new will be prepared and Mr. Coons testified the will was drawn up and witnessed by himself and Mr. Bunten.

Percy Bunten was next called and said he had gone to the home of Mrs. Dice at Claryville where Mr. Irwin was then living and had assisted him to the car and brought him to the bank in Ellenville where Mr. Irwin transacted business and then they went to the office of a Mr. Coons where the will was drawn. He said that he had not paid much attention to the conversation prior to the drawing up of the will, but knew his wife and Mabel Miller Carr were two of the chief beneficiaries. Mr. Bunten said that Mr. Irwin had gone to the bank and had deposited money and returned a second time to examine a safe deposit box. The witness said Mr. Irwin was about 80 years old and was assisted to and from the car and up the stairs to the Coons office.

On cross examination, he said, Mr. Irwin had not been able at times to recall the names of some members of his family. Mr. Irwin remained at the Dice home until the spring of 1940 and later went to the Bunten home where he died.

LYONSVILLE

Lyonville, Nov. 6.—The fourth monthly evening service will be held in the Lyonville Reformed Church Sunday evening, November 9, at 7:30 o'clock. A baptismal service will be held at this service. The message of the evening will be delivered by the Rev. B. H. Thaden of the Gardiner Reformed Church. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

Miss Constance Blawis, teacher of the Lyonville school gave the pupils a Halloween party Thursday afternoon. The party was also attended by a number of parents and friends. Those present besides the pupils and teachers were: Mrs. Dave Countryman, Mrs. James Temple, Mrs. James Davis, Mrs. Kenneth Oakley, Mrs. Hasbrouck Christiana, Mrs. Ernest Smith, Mrs. Mae Oakley, Mildred Barley and Greta Hoppe.

Due to a union service being held at the Krumville Reformed Church Sunday morning, to which the congregation of the Lyonville Reformed Church is invited, there will be no regular morning service at Lyonville.

An evening of games will be held in the Lyonville Young People's Community Club house on Friday evening, November 14. Games will start at 8 o'clock. Proceeds will be for the benefit of the club. The public is invited.

Fourteen Acres Are Sold At DeWitt Lake Tract

Fourteen acres of land owned by William L. Burnett at DeWitt Corners, was sold yesterday to the United Realty Corporation of Poughkeepsie. The land sold is just off the old DeWitt mill property, east of the state road.

Some 30 acres of land, adjoining this property on the east side of the Edenville road, is being cleared off for a New York Camp.

The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., has also purchased a grant over DeWitt Lake Park.

It is said that the Kingston Day Camp of which William Holmes is director, plans to have a new camp building constructed. The property is known as the Pine Knoll Camp.

The St. George Choir of Newburgh is planning to have another building erected at DeWitt Lake, which will be used as a summer home by the camp director.

New road work and the clearing of land on the property is being done by Benjamin Lombardi, contractor of Highland.

Firemen Kept Busy

Kingston's fire department last night and this morning responded to several alarms of fire. At 6:47 o'clock last night the firemen were called out for a grass fire off West Chestnut street; at 7:19 o'clock a false alarm was turned in from Box 2111 at School No. 3; at 7:30 o'clock last night the firemen were called for a fire in some old auto tires in the old lime kiln off Murray street; at 3:45 o'clock this morning there was an alarm from Box 1121, Broadway and Greenkill avenue, for a fire in some rubbish in an ash can, and at 5:25 o'clock the firemen received a still alarm for a fire in the garage of Eugene Vogel at 17 South Wall street. The fire, of unknown origin, damaged the garage and the Vogel milk truck.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 6, 1941.

PRACTISING DEMOCRACY

The International Labor Organization, which has been meeting in New York City, is the only functioning department left of the League of Nations. It is no ghost, but a live and determined body composed of representatives of governments, workers and employers. Compelled by the war to move its headquarters from Geneva to Montreal and to omit its annual meeting last year, this group has never ceased to do its valuable work. Today it is ready for serious discussion of two prime questions—how to push the anti-Nazi fight to victory and how to win the peace after the war.

In a welcoming talk at the opening session, Governor Lehman of New York cited as the "most deeply significant aspect" of the conference its "demonstration of the vitality of democratic methods in time of war as in time of peace, and of the unity of purpose of the nations assembled here to maintain at any cost their right—their duty—to the free pursuit of happiness."

The phrase, "at any cost," implies the temporary surrender of certain ease and privilege for the sake of a lasting gain. One thing this nation needs to understand clearly is that democracy can be strong and disciplined and yet be democracy. The democratic method does not mean laxity. Liberty does not mean license. The I.L.O. delegates may help us to re-learn these truths that our forefathers knew and that the totalitarians have sought to make free peoples everywhere forget.

CROWDED PARKS

More than 21 million people have visited the national parks so far in 1941, according to figures of the National Park Service. So 16 per cent of the people of the United States made some use of their park areas during the year. The total is 26 per cent higher than that for 1940, and this is the eighth consecutive year in which park attendance has grown.

The most popular apparently is Great Smoky Mountains National Park in Tennessee and North Carolina, perhaps because it lies close to the most populous region of the United States. But less accessible parks draw admiring patrons, too.

This is what the national parks are for. This is why the government has built fine roads through them, provided camping and hotel facilities in or near them, trained attendants to take care of them and to make the public welcome. The national parks, monuments and historical sites are set aside for all time to preserve for the whole public both their unique scenery and their recreational opportunities. The tax money devoted to the preparation and upkeep of the parks would be wasted if the public were not thus increasingly aware of their value.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

The little Dominican Republic has done more, considering its area and population, than any other country of the Western Hemisphere to meet the refugee problem in a practical way. And now former President Trujillo of that country has added to its good works by setting up a traveling scholarship at the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism. The winner, who will be chosen from the 1942 graduating class, will receive traveling expenses to and from the Dominican Republic and a position for one year on La Nacion, leading newspaper of Trujillo City.

Whether or not this gift is important as a scholarship, its value as a contribution to "good-neighborliness" cannot be denied. The graduate who goes to Trujillo City, his friends and relatives and a widening circle of acquaintances, are all destined to learn much about this small sister nation, its history and its hopes for the future.

THOSE FRENCH OUTRAGES

The Nazi government declares that the popular protection of Frenchmen who kill German troops in occupied France is an "outrage." That's one way of looking at it.

The Nazis of course don't like to be bumped off. And they naturally think the bumping-off process and the protection of the bumpers is very wicked. Ideology and race prejudice do strange things to people's minds.

To Frenchmen who are loyal to their own country, such acts are deeds of patriotism, as admirable as those ever performed in any country against tyrannical oppressors. To them the real outrage is the presence of German troops in their country pushing them around, levying ruinous taxes and robbing them even of their food.

COLLEGIATE SPEECH

Slang is supposed to be vigorous and picturesque, not strained and artificial. But how about stuff like this, appearing in the Princeton Alumni Weekly?

"I'm going for a new weave. The old buck is going to render me. Let's dream off to be handled for new equipment. I favor fresh gear with the season. When the queen bees lamp my tunic, it'll really rattle their choppers."

Maybe it is an improvement on regular speech, but many will doubt it. As explained by a Princetonian who ought to know, the passage should be interpreted as follows:

The person in question is about to acquire some clothing because his father has expressed his willingness to foot the bill. He is going to a clothing establishment to do his shopping, happy in the thought of new clothes to match the change in season. He is especially happy at the thought of how young ladies will be impressed by his sartorial splendor.

Even this translation seems labored. Have English courses fulfilled their purpose for the undergraduate who can't tell this story in simpler words?

Maybe it should go in the liner ads. Be that as it may, now is a strategic time for motorists to get their cars overhauled for the long haul, before winter and war jump onto them.

Nazis are people who think they have a divine right to kick other people around.

One of the things Americans don't do is to let Uncle Sam down.

If it's a "shooting war," how about the coal chutes?

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
BEHAVIOR AND EMOTION

A medical student, as he studies the structure and the workings of the various parts of the body, develops a great respect, even reverence, for the Creator of the body. Not only are all the parts present but they are most often in pairs so that if one is damaged, the other can carry on the necessary work.

Similarly with the working powers and processes of the body: the stomach is two or three times as large as it needs to be, the intestine many feet longer, the liver, lungs and heart capable of performing much more work than they are called upon to do under ordinary circumstances. This is to allow for the extraordinary needs of the body under severe strain or illness.

This ability of the mind to do much more work than that done by most of us. In fact, Bernard Shaw is kind enough to say that the reason he makes a good living is because he does a little thinking "every" day, whereas most individuals do a little thinking only once or twice a week. And just as we were given more physical and mental power than we need or given an excess of physical and mental power, so were we given a surplus of emotional control for emergencies. The trouble is that so many of us seem unable to use this emotional control or power as readily as we do physical and mental power.

Why are we not able to seize and use the control of our emotions so that we can face our daily difficulties with calmness of spirit?

Sometimes it is a matter of heredity in that one or both parents were nervous and emotional. Sometimes it is a matter of infection or other body ailment which takes away our fighting force, our emotional control.

Dr. William H. Barrow, California School of Medicine, in Digest of Treatment, says that the cause of our emotional or behavior failure is lack of psychic reserves as to behavior and emotion.

To get full use of these reserves or build up these reserves "demands systematic industry, careful use of our time, and of our opportunities, with a proper code of daily conduct."

In other words, many of us have not learned the art of living in its true meaning because we fail to perform these simple daily duties of life.

Neuroasthenia

Are you afraid you have some ailment medical tests do not reveal? Feel as if you were being "persecuted" by some one? Send today for this interesting booklet by Dr. Barton entitled Neurosis (No. 103) which explains how such conditions are handled. Address your request to The Bell Library, Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y., enclosing ten cents to cover cost of handling and mailing and mention the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Bomb Delivery Checked

After sending a bomb to a drug store, racketeers in Shanghai, China, checked up on the delivery boy by telephone. The boy left the bomb wrapped in paper on the counter and ran away. Clerks found the explosive and dropped it in a bucket of water. Then came the call asking if the bomb had been delivered. Before the clerk could say more than "yes" the caller hung up. The bomb was sent to make the store owner pay protection money.

'Closed Shop' Issue Is Most Important Controversy in Labor Union History

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, Nov. 6.—The most important controversy in the history of labor unions is to be decided here this week by a tribunal of 11 men set up by the President of the United States.

The issue is the "closed shop." The collateral questions are many. Shall American workers be compelled to join unions? Shall they be forced to obey their union officers and pay dues or be dismissed by the union's order which hereafter would be imposed on the employer? Shall membership in a union supersede fitness for a job as means of hiring or firing workers? Shall every union be given a monopoly so that no rival union can ever be chosen to represent the wishes of the workers?

The issue of "open shop" or "closed shop" has long been a source of trouble in American industry. In normal times, strikes and threats of strikes are used to attain the closed shop. Submitting to economic pressure, the closed shop has been accepted by employers in some industries but it has yet to be proved that the system is as efficient with respect to individual performance as a system which depends wholly on the right of the employer to hire and fire whomever he considers efficient.

There are various kinds of closed shops. Some agreements require all employees to join. Others stipulate that the employer may hire whom he pleases but every new worker must join within 30 days. All closed shops however have this much in common—the employer is given the burden of keeping the union intact. This is a strange contradiction because for years the employers were accused of dominating unions. Now it seems to be all right provided the employer becomes a party to the monopoly system which keeps the national unions and their locals in power.

The National Defense Mediation Board need not, of course, have tackled the problem. The National War Labor Board in the last war sidestepped it by refusing to let the national emergency be used to exploit closed shops or open shops. A system of freezing the status quo was introduced.

The present defense mediation board has yielded to union pressure and has looked sympathetically on the idea of forcing employers to maintain the rolls of union memberships. For refusing to accept such a system, the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Company recently had its plant at Kearny, N. J., seized by order of President Roosevelt.

Today the mediation board is face to face with a much more far reaching aspect of the closed shop. John Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, wants the steel companies which own coal mines to accept the closed shop. He argues that all coal mines are on the closed shop. It was, of course, not obtained voluntarily but as a result of a series of strikes and threats of strikes. The steel men realize that even in their own so-called captive mines, 85 per cent of the workers are members of Mr. Lewis' union. But to agree to the closed shop in one branch of the steel industry merely means opening the whole subject to strife in the rest of the industry.

When the defense mediation board refused to make recommendations, Mr. Lewis ordered a strike. The President pleaded a monopoly with Mr. Lewis to let the mediation board try again. It is now deliberating once more. It is officially admitted that the renewed hearings have not changed basic positions. Yet the controversy must be settled somehow.

This correspondent after a study of all the issues believes that there is only one way to settle the controversy on a basis which will conform to the national defense situation's requirements and yet avoid giving either labor or management a humiliating position. That method is as follows:

1. Since the miners in the steel company mines are 95 per cent unionized, the closed shop could be granted for all coal mines only.

2. The award would be made on one condition, namely that both the C.I.O. and the A. F. of L. agree in a statement to the President of the United States that neither organization will sanction another strike or threat of a strike during the present national emergency if the strike has for its object the attainment of the closed shop.

Maybe the National Defense Mediation Board will develop such a formula. If it rejected the closed shop, it would not mean peace among labor unions. If it granted the closed shop unconditionally, the morale of the employers would be seriously impaired and labor difficulties would not diminish. Disunity would be intensified.

Would John Lewis accept the conditions set forth above? If the National Defense Mediation Board made such a recommendation and the President of the United States concurred, it would not take five days for the Senate and House to write the mediation board's recommendation into law stating that on and after a certain date no more closed shops would be permitted. The plan would remove the issue from the defense situation and narrow all disputes hereafter to matters of wages and working conditions, most all of which are amenable to conciliation or mediation or arbitration.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

I wonder how many of the older readers of this column recall the old Oriental Hotel that stood on the bluff overlooking Kingston Point Park and the Hudson river. An old clipping I was reading the other day related how the hotel was destroyed by fire on Friday evening, March 31, 1922.

The hotel had been erected some 20 years previous to the date of the fire of the Hoffman Brewing Company at an approximate cost of $10,000. It was first operated by Michael Dippold, and in later years George Palmer, at one time proprietor of the old Mansion House, operated the hotel as did Perry Bryne.

In the days when the hotel was prosperous Kingston Point Park was in its hey-day, and thousands daily visited the park during the summer season.

In the days before the auto became so popular the park attracted throngs who made the trip by trolley car, and I recall the old pavilion that stood on the water front, that was destroyed by fire some years ago. On this pier were shown the old silent movies, and there were band concerts from the bandstand that stood in the lagoon.

The park in those days was one of the beauty spots along the Hudson river.

Another fire of interest in the city was on April 6, 1922, when the old Kilkuit mansion on Golden Hill was destroyed. This mansion had been vacant for many years. It had originally been erected by Mrs. Harriet Patterson as evidence of her faith in spiritualism. As I recall it she left Kingston for California shortly after the mansion was completed, or before construction had ceased.

The mansion had a most interesting history as older readers will recall. The fire that destroyed it was of supposed incendiary origin.

Turning back the leaves of the city's history to April 5, 1912, I recall that Mayor Roscoe Irwin appointed Mrs. Hattie B. Michael as a member of the Board of Health.

Mrs. Michael was the wife of the late Superintendent of Schools Myron J. Michael, after whom the new M. J. M. School is named.

Mrs. Michael served as a member of the health board for many years during the Canfield administration that followed the Irwin regime.

She was also active in the work for woman's suffrage, and was the first woman of Kingston ever to be a candidate for public office. She was a candidate on the Democratic ticket, but was not elected the year she ran for office.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Nov. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Donaldson of West Point were Sunday guests of her mother, Mrs. Wayne Wiseman.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Shultis, Mrs. Lester Wager and Mrs. Andrew Hatcher of Modena were visitors in town Tuesday evening.

At a recent meeting of the Vineyard Rebekah Lodge in Highland installation of officers took place. Members from New Paltz elected to office were: Mrs. Ella Fischer, vice grand, and Mrs. Velma Clearwater, recording secretary.

A number of members of the Ulster County Garden Club, who reside in New Paltz, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Henry L. Bibby at a buffet supper at their home in Kingston recently. After supper John Hilton of Saugerties showed colored movies of the gardens of several of the club members.

John Ashton and Gordon Pine are the leaders for New Paltz to direct the finance drive for the southern district Boy Scouts.

Fifteen Future Farmers, with their instructor, Frederick Heinsch, participated in the tri-county fall rally of the Future Farmers at Wawick Friday. Ten schools were represented by 150 tutors in attendance.

Miss Margaret Wicks has returned to her duties at Kingston Hospital after a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wicks, on South Oakwood Terrace.

The Dutch Guild will serve a turkey supper in the Reformed Church November 13 at 6 o'clock. A limited 150 tickets are on sale. The Guild Gift Shop will offer for sale pretty and useful gifts for Christmas. The junior choir will sell candies and cookies. A one-act play will be presented after the supper with a silver offering.

The Youth Fellowship Society of the Reformed Church has reorganized on account of the large number of members leaving town. Officers elected are: President, Phyllis DuBois; vice president, George Corwin; secretary, Ernest Schaffert; treasurer, Margaret Taylor. George Corwin was the leader of the meeting this week.

Jo Ann Taylor of New Paltz accompanied Carolyn Lee, Eckley of Rifton to New Brunswick, N. J., where they attended the junior prom at Rutgers.

Mrs. Perry Deyo, Mrs. E. B. Dennison and Miss Cornelia DuBois are planning to attend the luncheon of Mahanawasis chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday afternoon, November 10, at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie.

Trade barriers are impeding the movement of essential defense materials across certain state lines, the Department of Commerce says.

Fewer Pins in Britain
Only 250,000,000 pins are available for the home trade in Great Britain and these cost four times the pre-war price, it is reported in London. Before the war Britain used 5,000,000,000 pins each year, 6,000,000 pounds of safety pins and 370,000,000 hair pins. The country has 10 pin manufacturers. One firm turns out 100,000,000 pins a week. It was wastage, not the quantity used, that pushed sales up to $2,000,000 annually in the three years before the war. When a man bought a new shirt he usually found 12 pins in it. Now he finds six.

Red Cross Defense Program Calls for Great Roll Call

America's national defense efforts require a great expansion of all American Red Cross activities. Secretary of the Red Cross Chapter, declared today in urging "all-out support of the greatest membership Roll Call in Red Cross history, to be held from November 11 to 30.

Mrs. Tappen said the Ulster County chapter had set a quota of 12,000 members for its share in the national appeal. "We must go over the top in this Roll Call," she added, "because the continuance of the national Red Cross program depends upon the success of the local chapters in appealing for members."

Funds realized during the Roll Call period, he pointed out, will be used to enable the American Red Cross and its chapters to carry on its expanded services to the Army and Navy and to widen its national defense program for the civilian population.

The Red Cross has more than doubled the number of field directors and medical workers in its employ stationed at Army and Navy posts and hospitals. Red Cross staffs are at 185 stations and hospitals covering 300 points of military and naval service. Approximately 200 field directors and assistants are dealing with the able-bodied personnel of the Army and Navy, while another 140 workers, assigned to Army and Navy hospitals, render medical social service and communication service for convalescent patients as well as plan medically approved recreation.

To facilitate these within-camp activities Mrs. Tappen said, the Red Cross has under way a $1,250,000 construction program to erect Red Cross administration buildings at each of 62 Army camps. These buildings contain offices, consultation rooms, living quarters for the Red Cross staff, and a reception room and lecture room for classes in Red Cross first aid and home nursing courses.

She added that the Red Cross also is completely furnishing and operating hospital recreation buildings constructed by the War Department at 65 Army stations and general hospitals. The buildings will provide recreational services for convalescent patients, including current popular motion pictures, stage presentations and other entertainment. The program in these quarters will be conducted by a trained Red Cross staff aided by volunteer Gray Ladies, the Motor Corps and other volunteer units of nearby Red Cross chapters.

"It is essential for the complete functioning of this vital program that local chapters strengthen their home service departments," Mrs. Tappen said. "These departments, with the field directors at the camps and hospitals, form the liaison between the military and civilian populations which is the duty of the American Red Cross to provide. Our own chapter must be prepared to bear its share of the load, but it can only do so with the wholehearted support of the entire community during Roll Call."

Mrs. Tappen said that the Red Cross on a nationwide basis is performing a number of other services for the armed forces, including the enrollment of nurses and medical technologists, production of 40,000,000 surgical dressings by women volunteers, furnishings of $1,000,000 worth of athletic and recreational equipment to Army and Navy posts, instruction of first aid, swimming and life saving at Army camps and supplying of extra-comfort articles to convalescent military and naval patients.

"Meanwhile, the Red Cross must expand its services in other ways to help in the preparation of civilian defenses," Mrs. Tappen pointed out.

Plans are being laid in every section of the country to prepare for Red Cross disaster relief service under any eventuality. Last year the Red Cross aided approximately 220,000 persons who were victims of 149 disasters.

Growing to new heights, the Red Cross First Aid, Water Safety and Accident Prevention Service last year instructed 377,000 persons in first aid and another 81,000 in water safety techniques. The same service now has in operation along the nation's highway 6,844 first aid stations and mobile units on the nation's highways.

In addition to obtaining almost 5,000 nurses for the Army and Navy, the Red Cross Nursing Service last year cared for 317,759 cases through its public health nurses. Conducting 5,700 classes in Red Cross Home Nursing, the service taught 81,000 women and girls the value of healthful homes and the fundamentals of home nursing care of the sick.

For a satisfying snack after an evening of cards or conversation, serve Veal Roll as suggested in "500 Snacks," first in the series of 20 Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooklets being released to readers of the Kingston Daily Freeman, a booklet each week. Veal Roll is delicious and can be made the day before and kept in the refrigerator until you're ready to serve it with wafers and coffee at mid-night. Here's the recipe:

and made this way:

Shrimp and Grapefruit Salad
1 cup shrimp
2 cups grapefruit segments, chilled
3 ounces cream cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
5-6 crisp celery
Lettuce
French dressing

Clean shrimp; cut into small pieces. Drain grapefruit from juice. Mash cheese; add mayonnaise; cream together; add shrimp and

For an extra special snack, serve individual fruit salads with fancy canapés. There's an entire section devoted to Salad Plates in the Snack Book, now available to our readers.

Veal Roll

4 to 5 pounds breast of veal, boned
1/2 pound sausage
3 hard cooked eggs
1 teaspoon salt
3 peppercorns

Roll up breast of veal with sausage and eggs on the inside. Tie securely in a cloth, cover with boiling water, add salt and peppercorns. Simmer for 3 hours. Remove from liquid. Cool, then chill overnight under heavy weights. Slice thin. Serves 8.

HIGHLAND

Highland, Nov. 5 — There were 36 of the little tots belonging to the beginners and primary grades in the Methodist Sunday School who made merry at a costume Halloween party Friday afternoon in the parlor of the church. Mrs. Elmer Fisher, assisted by Mrs. Edison Dimsey, Mrs. John F. Wadlin, Mrs. Robert Cummings, Jr., the Misses Betty Wilcox and Shirley Filkins, led in the many games. Mrs. Troy Cook served refreshments of ice cream cups, cookies and decorated cakes. Mrs. L. E. Osterhout, Mrs. J. R. Melius and Mrs. Arthur Clarke judged the costumes and awarded prizes to Joyce Daley, Mavis Cook and Lydia Johnson. The party was given by the Sunday School and Gansse Church School Society.

The Mother's Club sponsored the Friday afternoon costume party for some 20 little folks of the nursery, beginners and primary grades in the children's chapel of the Presbyterian Church. A peanut hunt, bobbing for apples and eating marshmallows from suspended strings with singing games entertained the children. Mrs. Vernon Baker, Mrs. Dominic Pape and Mrs. George Wilcox assisted by Miss Nancy Rathgeb, the Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Haynes were in charge. Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served. Visiting mothers were Mrs. George Erichsen, Mrs. Bertram Dimsey and Mrs. Egan.

Mrs. Max Gruner entertained the Past Noble Grand's Association of Vineyard Rebekah Lodge at a Halloween party Friday evening. Mrs. Gruner as president conducted the meeting which preceded the games and awarding of prizes. Refreshments were in keeping with the season. Attending were Mrs. George Erichsen, Mrs. Richard Petersen, Mrs. Elton Tompkins, Mrs. Verlie Jennings, Mrs. Rachel Rowley, Mrs. Gideon Tompkins, Mrs. Lester Simpson, Mrs. Lloyd Plass, Mrs. William Cramer, and Mrs. Sarah Goeth.

Miss Audrey Filkins entertained Friday evening with Halloween games in which Peggy Morse, Hobart Kurtz and Jean Mead won the honors. Refreshments were served in keeping with the season and the guests were: Peggy Morse, Jean Mead, Augusta Werner, Billy Weston, Billy Maynard, Hobart Kurtz and Frank Roumelis.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhodenbergh of Metuchen, N. J., drove up for the week-end with the latter's mother, Mrs. Franklin Welker. Sunday dinner guests were also the Misses Alice Henderson and Anita Smith of Woodstock.

Miss Ann Wilcox, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon E. Wilcox, has gone to Plainfield, N. J., where he is spending the winter with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schamehorn. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Wilcox and daughters, Betty and Margaret, with John Mack and Miss Frances Fagan drove down for the day.

While the pheasant season is reported not a good one several hunters have profited by hunting. Louis A. Smith, 3; Louis E. Smith, 2; Charles Goeth, 4; Joseph Skipp, 2; Paul Skipp, 3; George Muller, Jr., 2; Robert Upright, 2; Webster Jones, 2; Wesley Harris, 1; Theodore Maroldt, 3; Karl Weston, 3; C. L. DuBois, 3; Amos Weed, 4.

Louis E. Smith has returned from Parks Air College, East St. Louis, where he has been a student.

Donald Merritt and Miss Ruth Draper were in Hamilton Saturday to attend the football game.

The Gansse Church School Society will hold a food sale Saturday at 2 o'clock in the Wilcox store. The committee is: Mrs. Robert Cummings, Jr., Mrs. Arthur Clarke, Mrs. S. A. MacCormac. The next meeting of the society will be November 13 with Mrs. Elmer Fisher. The entertainment is in charge of Mrs. Troy Cook and the study will be led by Mrs. Howard Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Franco and family have moved to New York city. They have been occupying the Lent house on Church street.

Mrs. Fred Munroe spent the week-end in Bloomfield, N. J. A foursome of bridge met with Mrs. Edwin Clark Monday afternoon.

Trooper James Benson attended the Columbia-Notre Dame game in New York Saturday.

Mrs. Merritt Hart of Vineyard avenue has been a patient in Vassar Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Chidsey have moved from the bungalow of Miss Rowena Harcourt to the north end of the double house of the Wadlin property on White street.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Coelho of Poughkeepsie drove Mrs. Fred Lewis Vail to Middletown Sunday to attend the funeral services for the late Harry Woodward.

Mrs. Philip Schantz entertained the Monday afternoon bridge club with Mrs. D. H. Starr, Mrs. Willard Burke and Mrs. Victor Salvatore as substitute players.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien and son, John O'Brien, spent Monday in Kingston with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reis.

Mrs. James Conn of Marlborough spent Friday at the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fisher. Mr. Conn joined them for dinner at night.

Mrs. Victor Clearwater is a patient at Vassar Hospital where she underwent an operation, also Mrs. Christopher Dohman, who was operated upon Monday.

Miss Nancy Dean spent the weekend with Miss Carolyn Sundstrom, a student at Centenary Junior College, Hackettstown, N. J. Mrs. William Cramer spent Monday in Poughkeepsie.

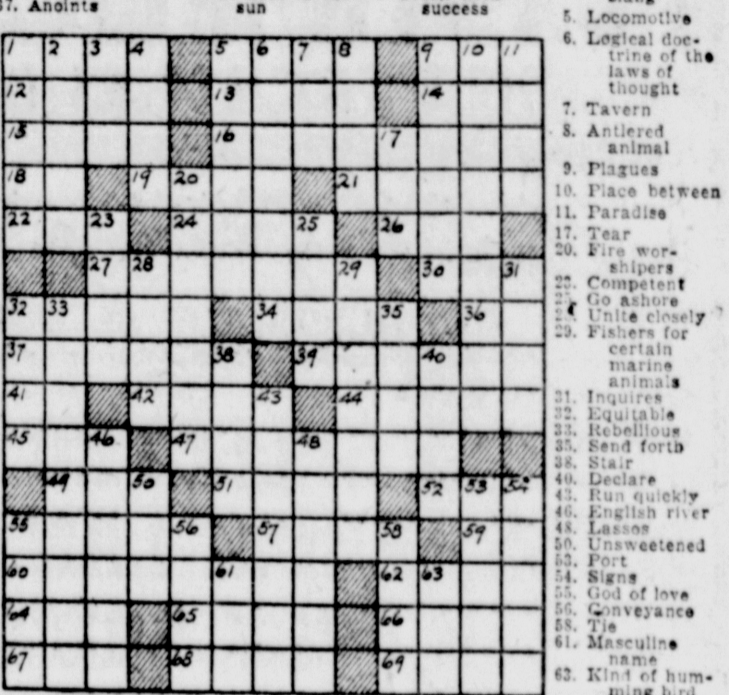

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farnham and Mrs. Roe arrived in Jacksonville, Fla., Thursday and were met there by Mrs. Andries DuBois, who accompanied them to St. Petersburg.

Very little evidence of Halloween pranks was seen this year. Some groups of little children made house calls and were treated to cakes and candy. The rain drove the older groups off the streets.

Army Expirations Ink
Army authorities in Wellington, N. Z., favor badges for physically unfit draftees. They have received many anonymous letters complaining that men called up by ballot some time ago are not in the army. The usual reason is that the man exempted has been classed physically not up to requirements and has returned to civilian life without advertising his disability. Under the voluntary recruiting system badges were given men found unfit, but there is no such distinguishing mark under the ballot system.

Six thousand tons of peat will be stacked in Eyre Square, Galway, Eire.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Easy Winner
Waverly, Pa.—State Senator John W. Howell is looking "for the guy who wrote my name in" and caused his election as justice of the peace. There were no other candidates.

"This town is so good it doesn't need any peace officer," he asserted. He thinks the office has been vacant "since the Civil War."

Youth Serves—But Not Long—
Canton, O.—Wilbur F. Cooper, 23, became the youngest city councilman ever elected here Tuesday.

Yesterday he was given his selective service examination and draft board officials said he probably could not be deferred because of his new public office. He is unmarried.

Forbidden Fruit
Denver—Mrs. Margaret Simon investigated scratching noises on her front door screen and found a young eagle, exhausted from a long flight.

She took it inside and rigged up a broom handle perch on the back porch—which was all right with Mickey, the wire-haired terrier. That is until the eagle ate up a plate of hamburger set out for Mickey. The bird department at the city zoo has a new eagle.

Coffin Didn't Cough

Boise, Idaho—"Who's coughin'?" demanded a nurse, entering the hospital ward, medicine and teaspoon in hand.

"I'm Coffin," spoke up a patient. A whoop from another bed, just in the nick of time, saved Pvt. Lionel J. Coffin from a dose of nasty-tasting cough medicine.

Prize Finds Winner

With a special ceremony, P. Z. Gonzales, a young merchant of Chicayan, Mexico, took possession of a prize that had been seeking him for weeks. The prize is a $20,000 apartment house in Mexico City. The donation was made by an important brewery company at a raffle, accompanied by a concert. The winner was unaware of his good fortune until the din of the search grew nationwide.

Nazi Pool Transport

Pooling their facilities, about 4,000 transport groups in Germany, owning 35,000 trucks, are obtaining more effective use of their equipment in shipping freight on highways. About 130,000 trade and industrial firms are using their vehicles in this cooperative movement, according to Berlin reports. Merchandise for conveyance more than six miles is carried only when paying return loads are guaranteed.

Russian-German Conflict Plays Important Role in Japan's Life

Chickens, Cows and Truck Gardeners Will Work Overtime Under New Set-Up

Food for Defense: 1

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The government is setting out on a vast three-fold food program. It is helping feed Britons; it is building stockpiles to feed starving Europeans after the war; and it is scheming to make you healthier. The AP Feature Service and The Kingston Daily Freeman will tell you what this tremendous program is all about.)

By JOHN GROVER
AP Feature Service Writer
Washington—When a little red hen cackles nowadays, it's patriotic music no less important to U. S. defense than the clangor of a munitions factory.

Eggs and explosives are both key cogs in the defense machinery. Milk means as much as mine-sweepers, cheese and cannon are co-equal in importance. That's the word of Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture.

Wickard goes further. He says food from U. S. farms will win the democracies' war, dictate the peace terms, and keep a permanent peace after the war. The department of agriculture has already mobilized U. S. farm power to write history with a pitchfork.

It's the biggest job American farmers ever tackled. The food-for-defense program calls for the greatest farm production in U. S. history in 1942.

There are three reasons given for expanded food production. First, our own consumption is growing. Increased wages mean increased demand for better food, more milk for the kids, more green vegetables. It means better national health, stepped-up arms production.

Second, we have pledged ourselves to supply Britain with one-quarter of her needs in animal protein—meat, eggs, dairy products. To Britain, that's the difference between adequate rations and malnutrition, between good and bad morale.

Third—and in the long run

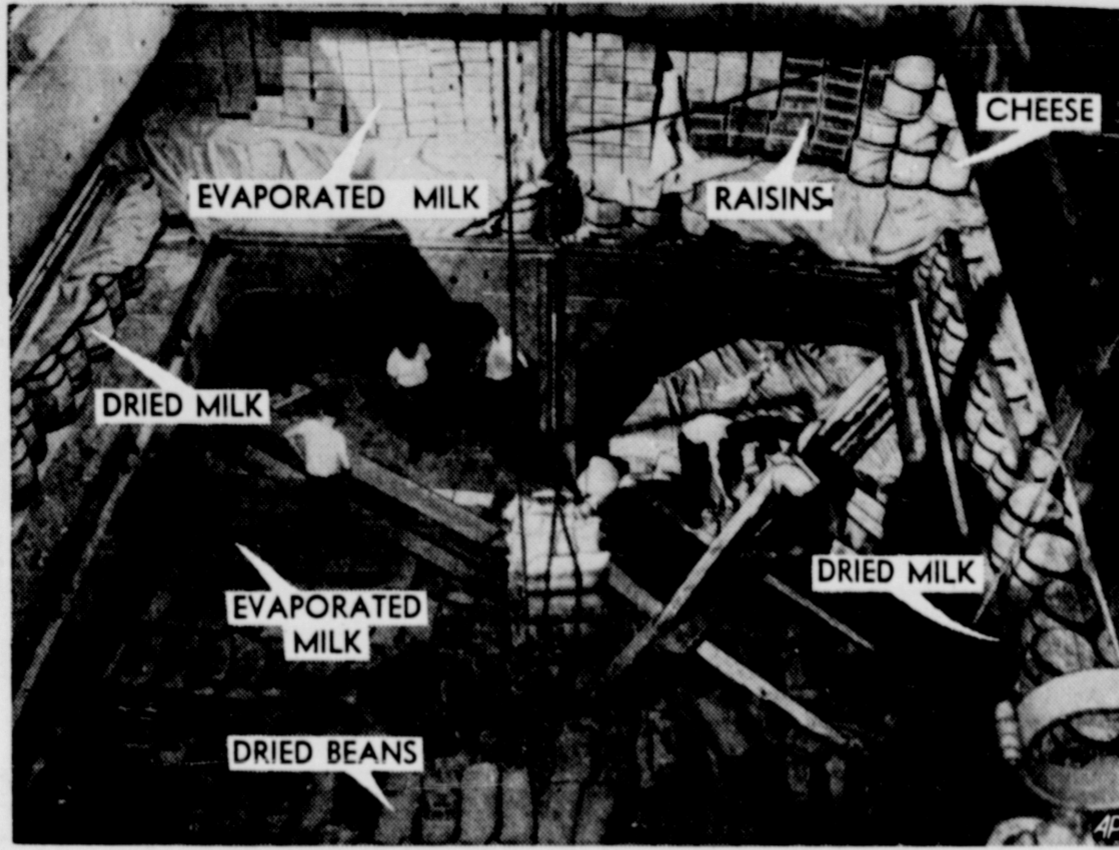

most important—we're building huge reserves or stockpiles of vitality-packed foods against the day when peace comes. It's going to be our biggest argument at the peace conference table. Undernourished, half-starved Europe will listen to reason—Uncle Sam's reason—if we control food supplies. They don't shoot Santa Claus in Europe, either.

To fill the needs of America, Britain, and the stockpile, rural America has been organized into a vast food factory. Don't ever call the department of agriculture a "bunch of swivel chair farmers" after the job they did mobilizing the food for defense program.

Every county has a quota. Soon every farmer will know what's expected of him, down to the last dozen eggs. That's different than the last war. In 1917, farmers were urged to produce to the limit but weren't told what to produce. Result was uncontrolled, haphazard output. The bottom dropped out of prices. Overproduction then set the stage for depression and chaos in agriculture in the 1920's.

"We're trying to avoid the mistakes of the last war," Wickard says.

Quotas now are based on known requirements. Bureau of agricultural economics surveys show we have ample supplies of food and feed grains, cotton and tobacco. We're short of current and future needs in dairy products, eggs, pork, lard, vegetable oils and vegetables.

LEND-LEASE FOOD ON ITS WAY. Cargoes of food are being packed in the hold of a merchant ship about to leave for England.

It means a sweeping change in established farm practices. It's no easier for a farmer to switch from all-grain growing to meat, egg and vegetable production than it is for a manufacturer of sewing machines to switch to machine guns.

The government protected the manufacturer by underwriting costs of his plant expansion and guaranteeing him a profitable market for his machine guns. They're doing the same thing for the farmers. There won't be a sudden drop in the prices of the critical foods to leave the farmers holding the bag after they've switched to new lines.

The government will support the prices of hogs, eggs, evaporated milk, dry skim milk and cheese at 85 per cent of parity at least until December 31, 1942. That means the farmer can plan his production step-up in safety and be certain of a profitable return.

Even with this government aid, though, reaching the hoped-for food goals in 1942 is going to keep American farmers humping.

For instance, the egg quota is four billion dozen. Even said just too many for ready comprehension. Four billion dozen eggs, put in simpler figures, means a line of eggs 1,151,150 miles long. That would reach around the world almost 50 times.

LEND-LEASE FOOD AT ITS DESTINATION. British youngsters line up to cook their portions of American eggs and bacon.

The government expects U. S. cows to produce 125,000,000,000 pounds—roughly fifteen billion gallons—of milk in 1942. That much milk would make a lake slowly, four billion dozen eggs is four miles long, a mile wide and 18 feet deep.

Other production quotas of vital commodities are in proportion, largest in history. To reach the goals, U. S. farmers must hurdle such obstacles as a farm labor shortage, threatened shortages of farm equipment, fertilizers and insecticides.

Wickard says they can do it.

Measures in Use By U. S., Britain Also Loom Large

Tokyo's Decisions Rise and Fall as Germans Gain and Retreat in Red Territory

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT (Freeman Special News Service)

Saburo Kurosu, his American-born wife and their son got out of a deck of cards last night before the Japanese envoy left on his flying trip to the United States and, the dispatches from Tokyo say, played feverishly to try to foretell the fate of his mission, which the Japanese call a last endeavor to make peace in the Pacific.

Kurosu must have turned up a very hot card. About the time he was dealing them out, a Japanese steamer blew up and was sunk and the Japanese authorities were quick to ascribe it to a Russian mine.

Perhaps this was an omen of the Kurosu mission, which was announced in Japan along with publication of truculent outlines of conditions for Japanese pacification, in which the United States again was called upon to give Japan the green light from the Siberian border to the Dutch East Indies.

The course of Russia's vast embroilment with Germany plays an important part in the desperate decisions of Japan. The common economic measures of the United States, Britain and the Dutch East Indies brought her creeping starvation; British reinforcement of Malaya, strategic American air and naval dispositions and the bolstering of China by the western powers daily made a southward thrust more hazardous. To the Japanese militarists, Russia's trouble offered a way out; Siberia, which long had provided the scenery for the generals' dreams of conquest, became more than ever a promised land.

Rise and Fall of Plans

Since the practicability of a Japanese plunge into Siberia has depended in large measure on the progress of the Germans in European Russia, Japanese military hopes and plans have risen with the German victories and fallen with the German reverses.

The last Konoye government, which spent most of its life in a tortuous dicker with Washington, collapsed at a moment when the Germans seemed ready to push Moscow over. But now that Moscow remains a staunchly resisting fortress, after more than a month of assault, the United States, in the language of the foreign office newspaper, is given "a last opportunity to make amends for aggression."

Undoubtedly, many Japanese militarists would like these American "amends" to come in the shape of a slice of Russia.

A rude nudge from Germany also has hastened the necessity for a Japanese showdown. An official document, issued last Saturday from Adolf Hitler's headquarters and conveyed meaningfully to governments not at present involved in the European war, stated that Germany had been "attacked" by the United States in the battle of the Atlantic.

To Japan this was notice that Germany would, at the moment of her choosing, call upon the Japanese to implement the Axis pact and give all possible military aid to the Reich.

The course of this aid, naturally, would be dictated by the Reich, and it would probably involve engaging United States naval power in the Pacific.

That is not the kind of leap into the unknown which Japan wants to make at present.

Would You Farm for Living? Then Have Talk First With F. W. Peck

Proportion of Distress in Defense Area Gives Index as to Farmer's Plight

By L. S. KIMBALL

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 6 (Freeman Special News Service)—To many a housewife in the city and her husband who brings home the pay envelope one look at the family grocery bill may lead to the thought:

"Maybe we ought to take up farming. The way food prices are going up, farmers must be getting rich."

If you went out into many a farming community and said that within earshot of a farmer, he'd likely take a hitch in his galluses and a long look at you, then say sarcastically:

"Yeh!" The northwest is a pretty good place to find out how the farmer is doing in these days of prosperity via defense. Agriculture is its biggest job, and from North Dakota to Michigan, it has been one big, long headache for a lot of people for more than a decade now.

Perhaps you wonder: "Well, if these rising prices aren't making the farmer rich, then what is he doing with his dough?"

Let's ask F. W. Peck, 54-year-old president of the Federal Land Bank for the district of North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

He has been farmer, teacher and banker. As a banker, for seven years now he has been wrestling with the problem of how to get debt-ridden farmers out of their troubles.

The land bank lends money to distressed farmers. Currently, there are 120,000 borrowers in the district Peck supervises. That's a lot of distress.

Let's take a look at North Dakota. Peck says that state represents an extreme.

Many Go Under

Many farmers went under in the deterioration of farm lands that began, not in 1929 as many people think, but 10 or so years before that. After 1929, the decline became an avalanche for a lot of farmers. Those who were able to hang on, for the most part came through a pretty battered lot.

Owning a farm isn't like having a job. You have property and if you don't keep it up, it deteriorates. When you have no money, you have no other choice than to see things go from bad to worse. Farm machinery, buildings, livestock—all get poorer and poorer as the hard-hit farmer, unable to finance their upkeep, is forced to let nature take its course. When you lose on a farm, you lose more than your job—you lose the means of a job.

So today, the farmer who survived the depression and drought that began in the '20s and ran through much of the '30s, is not getting rich on a few months of rising prices. Mark this, we are talking about the "D. D." farmer—depression, drought. Fifty per cent of the farms in Minnesota haven't a mortgage on them; for those farmers, these are really nice times, but for the other 50 per cent—and the figure is higher in North Dakota—it's a long, long road ahead to a good bank account.

Here is a quick closeup of where many stand:

They owe the Land Bank; they probably have chattel mortgages on their equipment; a lot of them have open notes negotiated before they fled to the Land Bank for help. Besides, they are on farms seriously in need of rehabilitation of land, equipment, buildings and livestock—to say nothing of personal needs of clothing and the like.

Peck Will Say

About this time, Peck will say something like this:

"When you talk about times getting better for the farmer, don't be misled by figures on gross income. Those figures sound fine but they aren't the figures you should use. The important figure is net—what is left for payment of principal and interest after the farmer has met all his immediate expenses. You'll find in case after case that it's a pretty small figure."

But the "D. D." farmer is beginning to see some daylight.

This year, Peck says, 458 loans have been repaid in full as against 225 for all of 1940. He quickly adds: "Remember that 458 is not very many cases out of 120,000—the number of our borrowers; however the trend is interesting, and that is what you should keep in mind—the trend."

The average loan is $3,800, but the repayment, in those cases where the farmer has come in and paid in full, is likely to be considerably below the average because, in such cases, he usually has managed to cut down his loan in previous years. The bank lends on a 20-year basis.

Yes, the trend is better and, cautiously, the good farmers hope it continues. But, looking at the economic scars they carry from the last decade, they hope it won't get too good.

A few years of things too good may, they fear, put a lot of farmers back on the same precipice from which they once plunged to ruin.

Show of Central Hudson Opens Tomorrow Night

The Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., and Cornwall Telephone Co. employees will sponsor "Vaudeville and Revue" at the Arlington High School in Poughkeepsie, November 7 and 8.

The purpose of the function is to raise funds to provide employees now in army camps with transportation to their homes for Christmas and return.

A cast of about 125 persons will be included. Stubs of tickets for both nights will admit the holder to dancing after the Saturday night show.

Tickets may be purchased at Luckey Platt's, the Central Hudson office, 50 Market street, Poughkeepsie, or at the door each night.

Mayor Heiselman Names Christmas Cheer Committee

Mayor Heiselman today appointed the following members of the Christmas Cheer committee: Chairman, Mrs. Stanley Matthews; secretary, Mrs. J. Nicholas Stock; treasurer, Mrs. C. J. Heiselman.

Finance committee: Mrs. Edward Loughran, chairman; Mrs. James Chase, Mrs. Joseph Deegan, Miss Mary Treadwell, Mrs. Bernard A. Culloton, Miss Mary Campbell, Mrs. Harry Halverson, Mrs. Joseph Jacobson, Mrs. Raymond Craft, Mrs. John M. Cashin, Miss Margaret Mullen.

Doll committee: Mrs. Eugene MacConnell, Miss Elizabeth Snyder, Miss Ione Kinkade, Miss Edna Halowick, Miss Edna Snyder.

Toy committee: Miss Gertrude Dempsey, chairman; Mrs. Fred Schwenk, Mrs. George Simpkins, Candy and fruit committee: Mrs. Sam Mann, chairman; Mrs. Lester Sanford, Mrs. Edward Pheasant, Mrs. Vincent Connelly.

Purchasing committee: Mrs. Stanley Matthews, chairman; Mrs. Charles de la Vergne, Mrs. Louis Keger.

Packing committee: Mrs. Grace DuBois, chairman; Mrs. Edward Luedtke, Mrs. Roy Jacob, Mrs. Harry Whitney, Mrs. Alfred Messenger, Mrs. Edward Hillis, Mrs. Raymond Woodward, Mrs. W. Eberth.

Selection committee: Miss Elma Kuhlman, chairman; Mrs. Sidney Lutzin, Miss Jean Estey, Mrs. LeRoy Wood, Miss Miriam Kelly. Mayor Heiselman asks all householders to make their annual search in the attic or cellar for old toys, so that they may be ready when volunteers call for them. Santa's work shop will again be set up in the local fire stations and firemen will reconstruct, repair and refinish old toys so that they look as if they came direct from the North Pole in Santa's pack.

Last Christmas eve, when addressing the people of Kingston, Mayor Heiselman called attention to the fact that the Christmas Cheer Committee furnished shoes and rubbers to needy children upon requisition of school attendance officers. As the result of that announcement, approximately $950 in shoes and rubbers have been paid for and charged to the Christmas Cheer Committee since last Christmas.

Last year, the committee raised and spent about $4,200, which was spent for clothing, toys, and other articles of Christmas cheer, which were furnished approximately 1,800 children.

There has been a marked economic improvement in Kingston since last Christmas, however, and although it is not expected that so many children will need help this year, it is believed that this year's list will be long enough to warrant the generous cooperation which has always met the cause of the Mayor's Christmas Cheer Committee.

Clown, Three Elephants Quit Circus Together

Atlanta, Nov. 6 (AP)—Milt Taylor, the clown, and three elephants—friends for 12 years under the big-top—didn't show up at the circus today.

They died yesterday within a few hours of each other. Taylor, 47, who greeted thousands of children daily at the Barnum and Bailey circus entrance, died in a hospital of heart disease.

Lizzie and Alice, 35 and 25 years old, and Pugga, one of the show's two African pygmy elephants, dropped over in the elephant menagerie. Attendants said they were apparent victims of poison.

Taylor, who called Del Monte, Calif., his home, is survived by his widow, an equestrienne and aerial artist.

Contractor Makes His Truck Fuel

Pasadena, Man Reads About Process, Uses Garbage

Pasadena, Calif., Nov. 6 (AP)—A building contractor who turned chemist because he became irritated at the size of his gasoline bills has developed a process to convert garbage, waste lumber and farm products into motor fuel.

J. W. Jean has obtained final patents on the method he developed in a machine shop laboratory here. He says tests of his synthetic fueling have shown it has an octane rating of 98.7, comparable to aviation gasoline, and that it has developed 25 per cent more mileage than the petroleum fuel.

Without any knowledge of chemistry, Jean developed his process after extensive reading on the subject.

Attend Annual Conference of Red Cross Chapters

The annual conference of Red Cross chapters in the Eastern Area, which is held every year preceding the Roll Call, took place in New York recently at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, with the New York Chapter acting as host to the neighboring chapters. The morning session started at 10 o'clock with Mrs. Henry P. Davidson, chairman of the Nassau County Chapter, presiding.

The addresses at this session were given by Robert E. Bondy, administrator, services to the armed forces, after which Walter Davidson talked on civilian defense, and Ramone S. Eaton discussed the coming Roll Call, explaining the need of doubling our quotas this year.

After the morning session was over, group discussions took place on the various volunteer special services of the Red Cross, until 1 o'clock when luncheon was served and it was a most impressive sight to see over 1,000 representatives from chapters in the Eastern Area assembled in this huge ballroom beautifully decorated with the Red Cross emblems and to hear the Star Spangled Banner sung by this tremendous volume of voices to the strains of an organ.

After the luncheon, Gen. James

Pandas Interest Crowds in China

Female for Bronx Zoo, Male Taken by Plane to Chungking

Chungking, Nov. 6 (AP)—An interested crowd of Chinese and foreigners surged today around two pandas, a female for the Bronx, N. Y., zoo, and a male which arrived from Chengtu by plane in a wooden crate.

The chubby black and white animals were in the custody of John Tee-Van of the Bronx Zoo and Dr. David Graham, curator of the West China Union University Museum, who helped bands of Wasi tribesmen capture them in northwestern Szechwan.

The male, 8 to 10 months old, weighed 60 pounds when caught by a tribesman who tracked it up a mountain and seized it with his bare hands.

The female, 5 months old, weighed 42 pounds and was described as comical and affectionate. Although a little cranky from too much attention it has been presented to the United China Relief by Madame Chiang Kai-Shek and her sister, Madame H. H. Kung and will be taken to the United States by airplane. Highland bamboo, upon which the panda feeds, also will be taken to the United States for planting.

The pandas were the 13th and 14th recorded captured and the female will be the 8th to leave China.

Surgeons Are Told How Tiny Receivers Are Planted and What Effect They Have

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Boston, Nov. 6 (AP)—Monkeys which get radio headaches were described to the American College of Surgeons today in a unique brain experiment reported by Dr. Frederick A. Fender of Stanford University.

These animals carry tiny radio receivers planted inside their brains. What happens to them looks like the real radio blues.

When the signal to which their brain receivers are tuned is sent out through the air, the monkeys sometimes clasp their heads in a realistic imitation of a human the morning after.

This work is all done inside a carefully shielded laboratory. That protects the animals from picking up stray radio waves. Although the Monkeys may look like a person hearing a dull speech or a sour note, they actually are receiving a very slight electrical stimulation.

This stimulation is apparently confined to the part of the brain where the radio receiver lies. For the effects of the stimulation appear to vary with the location of the brain radio.

Dogs and other animals also have carried the brain radios, with varying effects. The radio signals are likely to cause a dog to drop unconscious momentarily.

Wheeler Says Men Who Block Change Would Alter Party

Senator Says Democrats Would Be Willkie Candidates Aided by Communists

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) asserted to Democratic supporters of administration legislation to revise the neutrality act today that when they faced the electorate again, they would be "Willkie candidates, supported by the Communists."

Resuming his attack on a measure permitting American merchant ships to carry arms and sail into the combat zones, Wheeler said in the Senate that Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 Republican nominee, and Secretary of the Navy Knox, also a Republican, would support them in their next campaign if they voted for the bill, as Democratic leaders said a majority of them would.

Wheeler accused Willkie, "Wall Street bankers" and Communists of "trying to take this country into war."

"You are going to be Willkie candidates," Wheeler shouted to a few senators listening at the time. "I hope he goes into the states of every one of you Democrats after you vote for this bill."

"I hope that the Communists support you. I want to see you explain that to your people."

In Control of Board

Republicans of Orange county retained control of the board of supervisors at Tuesday's election by a reduced 21 to 16 margin. It is the first time in over a decade that the Democrats of that county have held enough seats in the county legislature to threaten Republican control of Orange county.

Party Was Success

The union Halloween masquerade party held at the West Hurley Church school hall by inviting the Leaguers from seven chapters was well attended. All reported having had a fine time and many suggested that a union meeting should be held more often.

The police department of the Union of South Africa recently purchased 100 American-made motorcycles, the Department of Commerce says.

Tree Rings

Dr. Andrew Ellicott Douglass, University of Arizona astronomer, is the founder of the Twentieth century science of "dendrochronology"—telling time (in years) by means of tree rings. The thickness of the annual growth rings in trees is proportional to the year's rainfall. Thus the rings fall in patterns corresponding to the varying rainfall supplies during the life span of the tree. By matching patterns from logs of recent date to successively older and older specimens, Dr. Douglass carried a continuous record back several hundred years. Examining logs in the ruins of Indian pueblos built before Columbus, he was able to tell the exact year when the wood was cut.

Recently Dr. Douglass announced that his rainfall calendar had been carried back to the lifetime of Christ, specifically to the year 11 A. D.

Hispanic Society

The Hispanic Society of America is an international organization, with a membership limited to 100 active and 300 corresponding members, which include specialists and scholars of all countries who have become distinguished in the Hispanic field. The deed of foundation provides for the establishment, in the city of New York, of a public library and museum designed to be a link between the English, Spanish and Portuguese-speaking peoples. It provides also for the advancement of the study of the Spanish and Portuguese languages, literature, art and history and the study of the countries wherein Spanish and Portuguese are or have been spoken languages.

Merchants Begin Plans for Holiday Lighting in City

Christmas lighting and decoration, Santa Claus and the appointment of a nominating committee to select a slate of candidates for officers in 1942 were the main topics of discussion at the meeting of the Uptown Business Men's Association this morning.

President James L. Rowe, speaking for the Christmas committee reported that plans are completed for the decorations and lighting and that the work would be completed and the lighting turned on by Saturday evening, November 29. The decorations this year according to present plans will be the finest Kingston has ever had. It will start at the Governor Clinton Hotel and extend through the uptown shopping district to Crown street on North Front.

Santa Claus will again appear in the uptown section and stores, and, if plans as now prepared are carried out he will arrive here about two weeks before Christmas.

In addition there are many other features planned for the Christmas season which will be announced later as final arrangements are made.

Due to the fact that the next meeting in December falls at a time when the merchants are busy with holiday affairs it was decided to postpone the meeting until after the New Year, at which time the annual election of officers will take place. President Rowe appointed a nominating committee of James Betts, E. L. Davey, Joseph Kramer and Al Mollott, who will select a slate of candidates for the various offices in 1942.

Before the meeting adjourned, President Rowe expressed his thanks to all merchants for their splendid cooperation in the Christmas decoration promotion, and the association extended the associations thanks to the Christmas committee for their work. The Christmas committee is composed of M. H. Herzog, chairman; E. Frank Flanagan, Edwin L. Davey, E. J. Trowbridge, A. Goldman and Byron Chatham.

Prison Population Drops

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—New York's prison population dropped from 10,597 January 1 to about 10,180 this month, reflecting a 20-year tendency for commitments to lag behind the state's population increase. The last two decades saw a New York population growth of 29 per cent from 10,385,000 to 13,479,000. Prison commitments rose 13 per cent from 1,766 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, to 1,997 for the last parallel 12 months.

RECOMMEND WAGE INCREASES FOR RAIL WORKERS

Temporary wage increases for the nation's 1,150,000 railroad workers were recommended by this five-man presidential emergency board in a report to President Roosevelt at the White House in Washington. Left to right: Thomas R. Powell, Harvard law professor; Huston Thompson, local attorney; Chairman Wayne L. Morse, dean of the University of Oregon Law School (carrying bundle of press releases); Joseph H. Willits, director of social sciences of the Rockefeller Foundation; and James C. Bonbright, Columbia University.

Polio Spreads

Another case of polio, the third in Newburgh within the past few weeks, was reported Wednesday.

The victim, a boy of eight, is in St. Luke's Hospital in that city. This makes three cases of polio under treatment at that hospital, the other two being a five-year-old boy and a youth of 17. They were reported as progressing satisfactorily.

Red Cross Has Spent $47,000,000 For War Relief

American Red Cross expenditures for war relief abroad amounted to more than $47,000,000 up to the end of June, Mrs. C. W. Hasbrouck chairman of Home Service, Red Cross Chapter announced today. Included in that total are supplies valued at more than $25,000,000 which were purchased by Federal Agencies for distribution by the Red Cross. The remainder was given through the Red Cross special war relief fund contributed by the American people last year; and includes the value of Chapter produced articles. Mrs. Hasbrouck emphasized that this war relief fund is quite distinct from the membership funds received at Roll Call, on which the Red Cross depends for the support of its many activities at home, such as disaster relief, service to the armed forces, public health, and home nursing, life saving and accident prevention instruction. Pointing out that relief had previously been made available, to the extent that war time conditions would permit, to Poland, Norway, Belgium, Greece, the Netherlands and Yugoslavia, Mrs. Hasbrouck said that in recent months American Red Cross War Relief has been distributed to Great Britain, the British Middle East, China, France, Finland and Spain. More than $25,000,000 worth of relief has been made available to the British people, with American Red Cross supplies, chiefly in the form of clothing and medical supplies, still going across the Atlantic at the rate of about six shipments every week. Supplies of milk, vitamins and clothing were distributed to children only in Unoccupied France, and limited quantities of medical supplies have been sent for general distribution under American Red Cross supervision, but no supplies have been sent to France since April 17, Mrs. Hasbrouck said, and none to Finland since May 29. On the other hand, relief operations in China are being conducted on an ever-increasing scale, Mrs. Hasbrouck reported. Wheat, rice, and vitally needed medical supplies to the value of close to $3,000,000 have already been sent to Free China. No war relief is being distributed in Greece at present, Mrs. Hasbrouck said. Large quantities of supplies in transit at the time of the country's complete military occupation were transferred to Red Cross operations in the British Middle East. Under this general heading, the American Red Cross is extending relief in Egypt, Eritrea, Abyssinia and Syria, and from headquarters in Cairo, has provided over $2,000,000 worth of medical, surgical, and other supplies.

Relief supplies of food to meet famine conditions and limited quantities of medical supplies were sent to Spain to the value of close to $2,000,000, Mrs. Hasbrouck reported, but no shipments have gone to that country since June 13, and operations in Yugoslavia were limited to the expenditure of $75,000 for emergency relief to refugees.

As part of its war relief service, the American Red Cross has forwarded parcels of food, clothing and other comforts to British and Allied prisoners of war in German prison camps, and assists in forwarding funds and supplies for the relief of Italian and German prisoners of war and interned civilians in Canada. Another activity which has brought comfort to hundreds of sorrowing families is the Inquiry and Information Service, which in one month handled over 83,000 inquiries about persons in war-affected countries.

The need for Red Cross relief to the victims of war still continues. The need for Red Cross services to our people at home is increasing rapidly in line with our national defense program, Mrs. Hasbrouck said. In urging everyone in the community to rally to the support of the Red Cross at the annual Roll Call, November 11 to 30, he emphasized that never has the need for a 100 per cent membership support among all sections of the American people been so vital as it is today.

Blend sugar with flour and salt. Add juices and water. Cook slowly and stir constantly until creamy. Add rest of ingredients.

Tea Racket in Dublin

Tea selling has become a racket in Dublin and even cases of "hi-jacking" are reported. Despite official restrictions, the buyer can get tea in almost unlimited quantities if he has the money. Prices range from $1.20 to $1.60 a pound. Some shops deal almost exclusively in tea. They are a war-time growth, and any other business done is usually little more than a cover for the tea "racket."

Convicts Pick Prison

Not liking the treatment they were receiving, two convicts in Portugal decided to change their prison. They wrote to authorities in Lisbon and elsewhere giving a solemn guarantee that as soon as they got out of Caminha they would give themselves up at Viana da Castelo. They duly escaped, and a few hours later reached the prison of Viana da Castelo—and were admitted.

Even the Busiest Lady Can Grow These Plants

Decorations For All The House

You'd love to decorate your home with plants, but you haven't time to take care of them? Many beautiful plants take care of themselves. In almost any spot, one or another will thrive.

Sprays of Chinese evergreen and philodendron grow in a low water-filled bowl, make a lovely centerpiece for your table. Just rinse bowl and add fresh water once a week.

Dracaena, tall, with variegated foliage, does well even where there's little direct sunlight—near a fireplace or on a stairway landing. So does sansevieria which grows for months without drainage.

Flowering plants, of course, require more attention, but are not too exacting. The astilbe will put forth masses of feathery pink blossoms if you'll just give it lots of water.

Jerusalem cherry, so colorful with its gay red fruit, asks only sunlight and protection from drafts and gas.

It's easy to brighten your home with plants! Our 32-page booklet describes simple care of many lovely foliage and flowering house plants, including azalea, flowering maple, cyclamen. Tells how to grow vines, ferns, bulbs.

Send ten cents in coin for your copy of "Making Plants and Flowers Grow Indoors" to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and name of booklet.

50 Billion Feet of Telephone Wire to Meet the Nation's Emergency Needs!

... Enough wire to go around the earth 381 times!

This year the Western Electric Company, manufacturing unit of the Bell System, will manufacture over 50,000,000,000 feet of telephone wire—the biggest output in all its 72 year history. This is enough wire to go around the earth 381 times.

The defense emergency is the chief reason for this huge wire production. It is being run off at speeds as high as 120 miles an hour through diamond dies. These diamond dies are used because they will accurately shape about 20,000 miles of wire before they need to be re-polished. The next best material is good for only about 200 miles.

This is one more example of the way the Bell Telephone Companies are meeting the country's telephone needs in the national emergency. Being ready, when and where telephone service is needed, is basic in the Bell System preparedness policy.

Gold-Star Mother
Never shall I forget the day
I saw a gold-star mother pray.
With trembling lips and saddened eyes
She raised her face toward the skies.

Her thoughts were on her soldier son
Who died, but yet the battle won.

And anguish came from over there,
As silently she made her prayer.

Like Mary kneeling at the Cross,
She asked for strength to bear her loss.

She prayed to God to use His art
To lift the burden from her heart.

I knew he granted her such grace,
For now she sat with brightened face.

And sunbeams pierced the stain glass through
And fell in glory on her pew.

Give a man a walking cane if you want to make a cripple out of him.

Poet—Do you think there is any chance of my getting this poem in your magazine?

Editor—There may be, I'm not going to live always.

When you can tell the age of a horse by the length of his tail, you can judge the goodness of a man by the length of his prayers.

Mother—You never come into the house without making an attack on that dish of doughnuts.
Tommy—That's right, mom;
y'see, a home run doesn't count unless a feller hits the plate.

No man is entitled to credit for not stealing green apples.

Junior—Ma, did you ever hear a rabbit bark?
Mother—Rabbits don't bark,
dear.

Junior—That's funny! Here in my story book it says that rabbits eat cabbage and bark.

You can send your garments to a laundry and they will come back white and clean, but when you deliberately soil your character it will always leave a stain, no matter how copiously you may soak it with the tears of regret.

Doctor—Did you tell that young man that I think he's no good?
Daughter—Yes, dad, and he said it wasn't the first wrong diagnosis you'd made.

What would we give if we could go back and unknit all the kinks we have made in our thread of life.

Clara—Ah, let me drink my fill of the exquisite beauties of this starry night.

Jack—O. K. There's both the Big Dipper and the Little Dipper.

If it would cost 24 billion dollars a year to support the world 40 years of age who will not be allowed to work, how many billions will it take to keep in luxury their sons and daughters who refuse to work?

Sue—Is your husband stingy?
Mary—I'll say! Why every time he takes a penny out of his pocket
the Indian blinks at the light!

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Chapter 21
"Kidnapped"

"HELLO—good morning, honey." It was not Johnny but Riv who answered. "Love me?"
asked Riv in his most lovelike manner.

A week ago she would have answered eagerly. Now... "I'm sorry, Riv," she said slowly. "I can't marry you. I've tried to tell you."

"Nonsense," he spoke angrily, and then his voice took on the coaxing tone she knew so well.
"What's wrong? The Colonel obfused you? He came back here last night and was afraid you might not understand him."

"I understand him quite well,"
she said. "I'll be over by ten," said Riv stubbly. "I never thought you a girl of moods, Sue."

"This isn't a mood. I can't discuss what I feel over the telephone."

Riv interrupted: "No need to explain. I'll be over at ten and take you out to breakfast."

"I don't want breakfast," she said flatly.

"I'll take you sightseeing, then.
We'll drive out to see Lincoln Memorial—Arlington—any place you say. We'll pack up and start back for Tyler Springs together, if that's what you want, but don't think I'm going to lose you, Sue."

"Riv," but he had hung up.
She looked at the clock on her bedside table. Nine fifteen. Forty-five minutes. Forty-five minutes in which she must plan what to say to Riv, to convince him that she meant what she said. He would be persuasive. Suppose he should promise to take care of Aunt Car and Aunt Pleas? Could she hold out against him?

She picked up the receiver and called Johnny Harris's hotel.

There was one way out, Johnny.
She waited patiently, her eyes bent on the ticking clock beside her. Feeling that every minute was precious. Surely Belle Acres could not be signed away so easily—the Colonel might be bluffing when he said the whole scheme hinged on her marriage to Riv. There was something else; whether to avoid the scandal in Tyler Springs when it was known that Riv had married when he was engaged to her—whether some financial difficulty of the Colonel's—

A voice broke into her thoughts.
"They do not answer," it said.
"Please ring again," she begged the operator.

The minute hand moved forward until it was twenty-five after nine, and then she gave up and returned the receiver to its cradle.

Johnny had called her last night and she had not been back as she promised and he had gone away and decided she didn't want to see him.

She called the desk clerk at the hotel where Johnny stayed. "Mr.
Harris checked out at nine o'clock and said that he would not be back," he told her.

Help Comes

THAT was that. Thirty minutes later Riv would be waiting in the lobby and all the old arguments would be gone over again.
Did she love him? Had she forgiven him? Did she remember this and that episode of their engagement? Riv's indignant and anxiety for those at home, making her incapable of sober judgment.

She bathed and packed and dressed. She added an extra touch of vivid rouge to her pale lips.

When she was ready, she called the hotel desk to send up a boy to carry down her luggage. She had only one plan now—to get away before Riv came. At the station she could find a train, or wait all day if necessary, but she must be on her way back to Mississippi.

The snowstorm was over. Sunlight glinted on the windows and slanted across the carpet. Outside, the snow was melting fast. She regarded her smart pumps rue-fully, but hoped she would not have far to walk.

Nine-forty-five. She hoped that Riv would be late. He was always late. The boy appeared for her bags and she was in the elevator and a minute later crossing the marble lobby to the desk.

Nine-fifty. She paid her bill and ordered a taxi. There was some delay. "It's ridiculous to feel like this," she told herself. "silly to get so upset—so afraid that Riv will come before you can get away—"

Her taxi was at the door! A boy swooped down and swept up her bags and she fairly ran to keep up with him. Behind her, the hands of the big clock moved to ten o'clock, but she was outside now, breathing the crisp cold morning air... drawing it deep in her lungs in a great thankful breath.

She started to cross the pavement and saw Riv alighting from a taxi just ahead of her.

Had he seen her? No—he was busy paying his driver. In her haste to cross to the curb, she stumbled and slipped and would have fallen, but a firm hand caught her elbow and guided her swiftly forward.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Country-

The pupils of the New Hurley

the school on Thursday afternoon.
The children of the school all ap-

"Union Station," said a voice just behind her. "Step on it."
She was seated in the taxi, but not alone. A tall well-knit figure in uniform was crowded in beside her and Johnny Harris's clipped Yankee voice said: "Hello."
Her lip quivered and she knew tears had come into her eyes, for he smiled and said bending toward her: "If you must cry when ever I meet you, I can offer a comfortable shoulder."

Still she could not speak, her mind a whirl of racing thoughts.
The taxi sped down the avenue.
Snow capped the government buildings. Slushy snow lay on the street and an army of men in shabby clothes were shoveling it away. Snow dashed against the windshield and spattered the windows, so that great blotches of it shut out the view. Without speaking, Johnny reached over and took her fingers and held them tight.

"I have an idea that something has happened," he said simply. "I called and you were not at your hotel, so I decided that either your fancy had been persuasive and induced you to consent to his plans, or—"

"We met the Colonel," she managed to say.

"So that was it." His fingers tightened. "I suppose he told you about the plantation deal."

"Something."

The Plan

THERE'S only one answer to this situation, Miss Sue Ellen. His tone was so formal that she felt sickened, frightened.

"There is only one way to save your face with your friends back home and one way to help your aunts. I promised my father that I would do everything I could for your Aunt Carolina. It took a little time for me to find out just how this could be done. It isn't an easy thing to assist anyone financially. I could say only one way to do it—to buy up the old Fairhope property and in some way restore it to your family."

"The proposition wasn't too easy because the Colonel was greedy. If I had shown too much interest in your aunt, he would have held me up for believing I wanted the place for some sentimental reason and he would have held it too high for me even to consider. Fortunately, he was hard pressed himself and his influence here is slipping. He must have the good will of the people back home to carry him through another election. He only managed to re-election this time by a narrow margin."

The taxi wheeled swiftly into line with other taxis and stopped.
Sue Ellen found her voice. "But why are you here?"

"Guest?"

"You are going back to Camp Shelby today?"

"Right."

Her fingers fumbled with her purse and closed tightly on it. Just for an instant she had thought something else. What he told her had shaken her. He had visited Tyler Springs to do something to help the woman his father had loved for years. He had had no interest except in Aunt Car and whatever he had said to her had not been because he loved her.

You should be interested in this trip. His grey eyes were close and gleamed with something which was not laughter, although his lips smiled down at her.

She was being stiff and stupid and he could not know that it took all her will power to control the impulse to put her head down on his shoulder and tell him that she loved him, that she had never loved Riv—never could love anyone—had never known love until now.

She was proud of the way she pulled her hand away, because she could not trust herself to let him hold her hand in that tight clasp any longer. The touch of his fingers frightened her—a mad, delightful fright. But she was saying quite steadily and with a superb control which disguised her inner tumult: "How nice that we should travel back to Mississippi together."

"But we're not traveling back to Mississippi together."

"But—"

The taxi driver had the door open and his glance was impatient.

"Let's go," Johnny Harris was out, standing in the sunshine.
Tall, straight, his eyes bright and the smile on his lips quizzical, as she stepped down to stand beside him. He was amused because she could not follow his thought, he was teasing her—maybe he guessed that she cared.

He seized her arm and started to hurry her toward the great door of the station. With a touch of her former spirit she said:
"Why do you say that you are going to Camp Shelby and that we are not going together to Mississippi—that doesn't make sense
—Mr. Harris."

"Johnny," he corrected. "Get the habit of using my first name in the future. Have you ever heard a modern wife calling her husband mister? Think about that while I buy our tickets."

Christmas Seal Drive Members And Committees

From a lengthy list of volunteers who sought to assist this year in the annual Christmas Seal campaign, Judge Joseph M. Fowler, chairman of the 1941 drive, today announced names of eight committee members of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Association who will take an active part in the campaign.

The members are: Speakers committee, the Rev. Maurice W. Yemmo, and Edward Huben; publicity, Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb; and Sam Mann; supplementary events, Mrs. Theodor Oxholm of Esopus, Miss Marguerite Quick of High Falls, and Mrs. Dorothy Hommer of Ellenville. The township chairmen appointed are: Dr. George Ross of Esopus; Mrs. Orson S. Haynes, Hardenburgh; Mrs. Claude Palen, Hurley; Mrs. E. G. Brad, Lloyd; Miss Marguerite Quick, Marlborough; Mrs. Glen Clark, Marlborough; Mrs. Raymond Morris, New Paltz; Miss Edna Longyear, Olive; Mrs. Andrew J. Snyder, Rosendale; Mrs. Fabian Russell, Saugerties; Mrs. W. H. Cruickshank, Shandaken; Mrs. L. C. Edsall, Shawangunk; Mrs. Dorothy Hommer, Wawarsing; Mrs. Marion Bullard, Woodstock; Mrs. Gross Schoonmaker, Rochester.

"Response of civic-minded citizens of Kingston," said Mr. Fowler, "to the annual call for voluntary helpers seemingly assures us that our community will go 'all out' for a successful drive. It is worth noting at this time that in previous years our Christmas Seal workers have acquitted themselves most creditably and have put the name of Ulster county high on the list of counties waging a relentless attack on tuberculosis."

"This is the 35th year that Christmas Seals have been sold throughout the nation to aid the fight for tuberculosis prevention and control. The Seal Sale here, moreover, enables the local association to carry on its year-round campaign against the disease."

Mr. Fowler pointed out that the committee membership announced today would be followed by the naming of additional groups and subcommittees, including a women's committee, business men's committee and junior helpers, so that all who have volunteered, and still others, will be afforded an opportunity to enlist in the campaign which will open on November 24.

Services Listed At Agudas Achim

Congregation Agudas Achim will continue with its series of Friday evening services this Friday, November 7, at 7:45 o'clock. Rabbi Gershuny will preach on the theme "The Greatest Lawyer That Ever Lived."

The Rev. M. Brown, newly-appointed cantor of Agudas Achim, will conduct the congregational singing. Refreshments will be served after the services. Members and friends are urged to be prompt at the services.

Sunday school classes from kindergarten to advanced Bible classes will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the Hebrew School building on Post street. Registration is still open in kindergarten classes under the direction of Miss L. Kline and primary grades under the direction of Mrs. A. Massel. Parents are requested to register their children this Sunday, in order that they will not be retarded in their class work.

Shows Landscapes

"Ulster County Farm" and "Winter in Manhattan," two large landscapes by Natalie Arras Tepper, are on exhibition in the Twenty-Eighth Annual Exhibition of The Allied Artists of America, now running at the Fine Arts Building, 215 West 57th street, New York. The pictures received favorable comment in a number of the New York newspapers. Tepper is one of the Woodstock artists well known here and abroad.

Cornwell's Majority 296
Alderman Eugene Cornwell's majority was 296 over his Democratic opponent, Jacob A. Myers, as a result of the election in the Eleventh Ward Tuesday. The totals were 634, which included the American Labor vote for Alderman Cornwell, and 338 for Mr. Myers.

Will Meet Tonight

A regular meeting of the Wiltschick Hose Co. will be held tonight at the club rooms starting at 8 o'clock. All members are urgently requested to attend. Matters of importance will be transacted.

Ski Trails Vote Favors Proposal

Unofficial Returns Come Slowly; Two Others Are Approved

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—New York city's heavy vote in favor of the proposed state constitutional amendment to authorize state construction of ski trails on Whiteface Mountain appeared today to assure its approval on basis of unofficial incomplete returns from Tuesday's balloting.

Returns—still trickling in from remote sections—from 8,919 of 9-421 districts, with all New York city votes tabulated, gave 716, 174 votes for and 683,230 against the measure.

New York city approved the proposal, 466,649 to 259,202, but the vote in 4,860 of 5,362 upstate districts was 424,028 to 249,525 against it.

If the same comparatively steady upstate ratio is maintained by the remaining returns, the amendment will prevail by approximately 15,000 votes.

Definitely approved were amendments authorizing a $60,000,000 borrowing program for state highway and parkway construction and empowering the legislature to legalize a vote on proposed constitutional amendments although lacking an attorney general's ruling. Rejected was an amendment to double the present two-year term for state senators.

Huge, Historic Trees Stand Out in Tennessee

Tennessee is noted for its large and historic trees. Three of them stand out in particular because of their size and tradition.

The largest pecan tree in the world stands in Natchez Trace state park in west Tennessee. It is seven feet in diameter and has a limb spread of 125 feet and is still producing pecans.

Another huge tree that owes its existence to a girl is an American elm that stands on the farm of Will Hicks, near Doverville, at the foot of Roan mountain in east Tennessee. It has a limb spread of 142 feet. Ten thousand people can stand on the 15,000 square feet of ground over which it casts its shade.

This tree was saved 175 years ago by Loretta Stouff, who threw her arms around it and said she would die with the tree when her brother, Dave, attempted to cut it down.

The third famous tree is the Pemberton oak, that stands on the farm of Thomas Pemberton, six miles from Bristol, Tenn. This oak is about 600 years old and is said to be the only living tree that played an important part in the American Revolution. It was under its wide branches that the rugged mountaineers from Kentucky and Tennessee gathered before marching to the battle of King's mountain. This tree has a circumference of 18 feet.

The United States is the world's largest producer of cottonseed, according to the Department of Commerce.

Will Be at Ball

Myron Rossi, better known as "The Swiss Boy" will appear with his father, Al. Rossi, as guest artists at the concert of the 23d Annual Victory Ball arranged by the local American Legion Post at the Municipal Stadium on Armistice Day, Tuesday, November 11.

Phage v. Staph
Recently doctors hailed an old conqueror of the dread staphylococcus germ. Considered by some scientists a virus, by others an enzyme, this germ eater is called bacteriophage. Strains of bacteriophage are found in the human intestinal tract, in urine, pus, blood and sewage. About 25 years ago, bacteriophage was first isolated by a British scientist from a dead germ colony.

The mysterious substance that killed the bacteria was able to pass through a fine filter and infect other colonies. Some doctors soon dreamed of it as a universal panacea. (Sincilar Lewis dramatized this hope in his novel "Arrow-smith.") Compared to the early days, the claims seemed conservative.

Some Tip
Mr. and Mrs. America leave about $200,000,000 a year behind them in tips when they go dining out.

This is according to the estimate of Miss Grace E. Smith, president of the National Restaurant association.

Miss Smith said that despite efforts of some restaurants to abolish the practice of tipping it seems to be as popular as ever.

She stated that the $200,000,000 figure was arrived at by considering the $2,185,000,000 worth of meals served by restaurants last year, eliminating cafeterias and certain other restaurants that have a "no tip" rule and estimating the range of tips on other meals as from 10 to 30 per cent of the price.

'War Deaths'
Although the U. S. was not at war "operations of war" are listed as the cause of four deaths in the census returns covering 1939. Three of these were deaths from injuries during the first world war and one was the death of an American citizen from injuries received in the Spanish Revolution.

Speeding to U. S.

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The rallying rails of Wednesday came a cropper in today's stock market and unsettled leading issues in other departments.

Attempts were made at the opening to extend the brisk upswing of the previous session but these were unsuccessful in the majority of instances. Offerings, heavy for a while, dwindled later but there were few recoveries in sight for the final hour. Declines ranged from fractions to two points or so. Transfers were at the rate of about 700,000 shares.

Many who climbed aboard the carriers in the preceding session, brokers said, stepped off when officials of the brotherhoods indicated dissatisfaction with the wage boost recommendations made by the presidential fact-finding board.

Announcement of the treasury would urge new taxes of between $4,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000 on incomes also was thought to have chilled bullish sentiment.

Nothing of a particularly stimulating nature was seen in the international news or business developments.

Railway bonds stumbled. Commodities were mixed.

An assortment of new 1941 lows dotted the stock ticker tape. Among these were Union Pacific, N. Y. Central, American Can, Consolidated Edison, North American, Public Service of N. J. and United Gas Improvement.

Also in the faltering division were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio, Du Pont and Union Carbide.

Occasional advances were shown for American Tobacco, "B" Reynolds Tobacco, "B", Sperry, Western Union and Texas Corp.

Local Artists' Works At New York Exhibit

New York, Nov. 5 (Special)—Two local artists, Emily D. B. Hoysradt of 53 West Chester street, Kingston, and Otto Bierhals of Woodstock, are represented in the 28th annual exhibition of the Allied Artists of America now on view in the galleries of the American Fine Arts Building here. Miss Hoysradt is showing a painting, entitled "Mountain Stream," and Mr. Bierhals is represented by "The Old Buckboard." Included in the exhibition, which will continue through November 15, are oil paintings, watercolors and sculpture. Participating this year are 169 members of the society and 180 non-members whose works meet the high standards required for a place in the annual event. Frederick K. Detwiler served as chairman of the 15-member jury of selection for the paintings and sculpture in the show.

Hotel Stuyvesant Makes Additions to Personnel

The personnel of the Hotel Stuyvesant has been augmented by Manager E. T. Stannard, who has engaged the services of Herbert Browne as chef and Sam Covington as maitre d'hotel. This change in personnel comes with the completion of numerous changes both in the dining room and in the grill where improvements have been completed.

Herbert Browne, chef, was formerly chef at the Napanoch Country Club while Sam Covington was for five years connected with the Cotton Club in New York.

Mr. Stannard has installed booths in the county room facing the windows and has installed a novel roast beef grill for the preparation of quick luncheons, specializing in the serving of roast beef sandwiches. In the county room, or main dining room, meals will be served; in the grill special quick service will prevail.

Miss Helen Miller Wed

To T. C. Garrison at Wallkill
New Hurley, Nov. 5 — Miss Helen Elizabeth Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Miller of Wallkill, R. F. D., became the bride of Theodore Cocks Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Garrison also of Wallkill, R. F. D., in a ceremony performed in the New Hurley Reformed Church, Saturday at 2:30 p. m. by the Rev. J. W. Tysse, pastor of the church.
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin with long veil. She was attended by her sister, Miss Louise Miller of Englewood, N. J., who was attired in a gown of Du Bonne with wisteria white. The bride's niece, Ruth Carlson of Englewood, N. J., who wore a dusty pink taffeta dress, was flower girl.

The best man was Charles D. Garrison, brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were Frances V. Garrison also a brother of the bridegroom and William Powell and Gerow Garrison, cousins of the bridegroom and Stanley Miller, brother of the bride. Harry Kelse of Walden was organist for the ceremony.

A reception at the New Hurley church hall was given immediately after the ceremony.
The brides mother wore a dark red gown with corsage to match and the bridegroom's mother wore a brown velvet gown with corsage to match.

The bride is a graduate of the John G. Borden High School and is now secretary at the school. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Walden High School and is now engaged in farming at Wallkill, R. F. D., where they will make their home. Guests were present at the wedding from Englewood, N. J., New Rochelle, Philadelphia, Pa., Walden, Salisbury Mills, Montgomery, Little Britain, Wallkill and New Hurley.

Auxiliary Holds Anniversary Dinner

Port Ewen, Nov. 6 — Monday evening, the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Port Ewen Fire Co., motored to Broglio's in West Park, where they enjoyed a delicious turkey dinner. The occasion was in commemoration of the seventh anniversary of the founding of the auxiliary.

The tables were arranged in a "V" formation and were decorated in patriotic colors. A large cake adorned the table ornamented with an American flag and "V" with decorations corresponding with the color scheme. The favors were corsages of flowers in red, white and blue.

The officers of the organization and the committee for the evening occupied the head table. The president, Mrs. Edward F. Mains, acted as toastmistress. The banquet was opened by the members singing "God Bless America." The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Marvin Page, Mrs. Raymond Avery and Mrs. Fred Spalt of the dinner committee and Mrs. George Bozell and Mrs. James Sleight of the entertainment committee.

Those present were: Mesdames Kathryn Albrecht, Verna Avery, Pauline Barth, Helen Beaver, Florence Bonstell, Alberta Bovee, Florence Clark, Gladys Coutant, Lillian Christian, Frances Decker, Elizabeth Ferguson, Harriet Gallagher, Elsie Groves, Florence Gunder, Ida Henry, Marie Henry, Jane Hines, Hazel Houghtaling, Rose O'Reilly, Viola O'Reilly, Edith Mains, Irene Maurer, Clara Munson, Sadie Munson, Annette Murdoch, Sade McConnell, Mary Myers, Rose Meleski, Beulah Page, Bertha Peck, Margaret Reynolds, Lou Schultz, Louise Short, Mary Short, Esther Sleight, Margaret Sleight, Ethel Sleight, Pansy Spalt, Marie Van Kleeck, Mary Van Leuven, Lillian Walker, Emeline Windram, Lillian Wesley, Wanda Weigert and the Misses Dorothy Atkins, Helen Atkins, Isabelle Albrecht, Lucy Coniglio, Mary Coniglio, Edna Gavit, Alice Mercier, Clementine Mercier, Helen Schryver, Hester Sleight and Kathleen Sleight.

Family Life Club Studies

Habits and Personality
The Family Life Study Club of the Kingston Home Bureau met yesterday afternoon at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. C. Packer of Cornell University and Miss Everette Parsons of the local Home Bureau Office.

An animated discussion was led by Mrs. A. L. Berwin, chairman of the group, on the topic, "What Part Do Habits Have in Personality Development?" The questions discussed in regard to the subject were, how are habits formed, how are they changed, what habits have been known to prove an aid to self-expression, what habits have been known to work harm, and when were those habits started and how. The talk led to the resolution that each member try to form a new habit and change an old one during the course of study.

Mrs. Frank L. Meagher, chairman of the book club, distributed books and requested that members who have not contributed books do so at their first opportunity and see that the book is put in circulation.

The next meeting of the Family Life Study Club will be held January 6.

Business Girls Have

Psychologist For Speaker

Dr. Sara Robbins, psychologist, addressed the meeting of the Business Girls' Club at the Y. W. C. A. last evening. She chose as her topic, "Pattern for Your Life" and gave an interesting talk on problems and aspirations of individuals.

She explained that there are usually three types of persons who make a failure of life. One is the person who expects things to come to him, another the person who thinks he is neglected, and the third the person suffering from a physical handicap. However, in this last case some people rise above their difficulty to become unusually successful.

For a well-rounded life she suggested that people develop along the lines of work, warm personal relations, and adjustment to society. Some persons fail to develop in all of the lines and thus do not find a complete life. Two things necessary for success, Dr. Robbins feels, are to give willingly and generously of one's self and to cooperate with his co-workers.

Next week the club will study books with the program topics being "Browsing Among Books."

Halloween Party

Miss Drusilla Nestell was hostess to a group of friends last Friday evening at her home on Henry street at a Halloween party. Decorations carried out the Halloween theme. PATTERN 9891

"At home everywhere" is the motto of the pretty apron designed by Marian Martin—Pattern 9891! It's versatile too—in one apron the side sections are made of contrast fabric and edged with ric-rac—are they clever the way they function both as straps at the shoulders and as pockets at the hips? Similar sections button together in back to keep from slipping off your shoulders, and the sash in back ties at the waist! Let the Sew Chart help you finish another version too, make all one fabric, plus the contrasting applique flower and leaf motif with a button for its center! It's easy to do—follow the directions included in the Chart.

Pattern 9891 may be ordered only in sizes small (32-34), medium (36-38) and large (40-42). Small size A, requires 2½ yards 35 inch fabric; view B, 1½ yards 35 inch fabric and ¼ yard contrast.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.
This winter enjoy the smartest wardrobe of your sewing career—by ordering the 1941-42 Pattern Book by Marian Martin. It spotlights the smartest new modes for careers, for home-making, for fun-time. Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

IRRITATED BY ADVICE ON DIVORCEES NAME

I don't know whether my readers always agree with me, particularly on certain points that are clung to rather stubbornly, or whether those who read this column are too considerate of my feelings to tell me what they think. Anyway the writer of one of this morning's letters is not only in disagreement, but plainly put out! In a stiletto-pointed handwriting, I am told: "Your advice to a divorcee as to her name irritates me! Why do you insist that she take a meaningless name like Mrs. Jones Smith? If you suggested her becoming Mrs. M. Jones Smith (the 'M' in place of Mary) I think that would be excellent advice because that gives the name meaning and makes it sound better."

To this I can answer that Mrs. Smith is perfectly free to call herself Mrs. M. Jones Smith if she prefers—or even Mrs. Mary Jones Smith, if she doesn't object to its wrong-side-of-the-carrots connotation. As a matter of fact, thirty years ago, Mrs. M. Jones Smith was the way the few divorcees of that day had their names listed in the telephone book, and had their visiting cards engraved in the hope that M might be supposed to stand for Martin instead of Mary. Then one day a young New Yorker ordered visiting cards with the M off. Immediately another did the same. Since then, practically all others have followed suit. At present the meaning "Mrs. Jones Smith" could hardly be plainer.

Letter From The Engravers

Dear Mrs. Post: The following problem is too much for us: A young woman has asked us to engrave her wedding announcements. The circumstances are irregular since she has been married for almost a year, having kept the marriage secret because the company with whom she worked did not keep on any women who married. Lately they have issued a new ruling. However, the young woman does not wish to state any place or date on the announcements because it may cause mistrust of her by some of her employers. We suggested that the young people write personal notes, but it seems they wish to send a lot of engraved announcements. We ourselves have never made up marriage announcements without the date. We have on occasion left off the place. What can you suggest for such a situation?

Answer: You might put on the date and leave off the year if that would help. Leaving this off would be merely following the precept of an invitation, but to leave off the day and month would seem to me impossible. You would also, of course, be running the Hercules Employees at Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. held open house last evening to approximately 150 male workers of the Hercules Powder Company, inaugurating a new project by the "Y." Each Wednesday evening workers from the several large industrial plants in the vicinity will be the guests of the "Y" and will be given the use of the gym, swimming pool, bowling alleys, billiard tables and in short, all of the facilities. In the top photo a boxing exhibition is staged in the new gym for an interested audience. The boxer facing the camera is "Buddy" Emberson, well known to local boxing fans. In the lower photo a large number of men enjoy a game of service ball.

Explosion Kills Man

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 6 (AP)—At least one man was killed when an explosion shook the big Carbide and Chemicals Corporation plant at South Charleston, defense manufacturing area, shortly after noon today. A funeral home at South Charleston, heart of the defense important Kanawha Valley chemical manufacturing industry, said a portion of a body recovered from the explosion area had been brought there.

Board Is Elective

A proposal to make the Poughkeepsie education board elective instead of appointive, was carried by a plurality of 341 votes at Tuesday's election in that city.

Democrat Is Mayor

Lester M. Warner, Democrat, was elected mayor of Port Jervis on Tuesday, defeating the Republican incumbent, Mayor John J. Hawkins, by a margin of 405 votes. Alvin Chase, Democrat, high school coach, was elected alderman-at-large by a plurality of 161 over Leroy Bockover, the Republican candidate.

Goes Democratic

Voters of Middletown on Tuesday turned control of the city government over to the Democratic party for the next two years, electing Harold H. Smith for mayor; Harold S. Close for alderman-at-large, five Democratic aldermen and two Democratic supervisors.

Rail Union Chiefs Call Conference

Disappointment Is Shown Over Wage Increases
Short of Demands

Chicago, Nov. 6 (AP)—Leaders of organized railroad workers, disappointed over a recommendation for temporary wage increases far short of their demands, called a conference today to map their next move—possibly the announcement of a strike date.

The five operating and 14 non-operating brotherhoods, with a total membership of 1,250,000, previously voted to strike. Enforcement of the vote was held in abeyance, by law, until 30 days after the extensive anti-strike procedure of the National Railway Act had been exhausted.

The final step provided under the act was taken in Washington yesterday when an emergency fact finding board submitted to President Roosevelt its report on weeks of hearings on the controversy. There is no legal provision for enforcement of the recommendation.

The board recommended wage increases of 7 1/2 per cent for the 350,000 operating employees who had demanded boosts of about 30 per cent. The lowest paid of these now earns $5.06 a day.

For the 900,000 non-operating workers, the board proposed an average increase of 13 1/2 per cent. They had asked for 30 to 34 cents more an hour. They now received 35 to 85 cents.

One-week vacations with pay were proposed for the non-operating employees by the board which also recommended wage increases of 7 1/2 cents an hour for 40,000 or more employees of the Railway Express Company.

Chiefs of the operating unions described the recommendation as "an engraved invitation for transportation men to leave the service." They said it was "the most disappointing of any recommendation rendered by a federal tribunal during the past 50 years."

and that they "regret to advise that they cannot recommend its acceptance."

The union spokesmen also characterized the report as "a twin sister to the Gurley bonus plan, which the organizations rejected in mediation and condemned as un-American before the president's board."

Seven Plead Innocent

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Seven men arrested during a raid by federal agents on a 2,500-gallon still in a Westbury, N. Y., garage pleaded innocent before a U. S. commissioner in Brooklyn yesterday to charges of operating the still. Anthony Vaccaro, 34, Brooklyn, was held in $2,000 bail while Commissioner Jacob A. Visel set $1,000 bail for Mario Gnofe, Anthony Scardino and Frank Accardi, all of Brooklyn, and Stephen Toth, East Hempstead, N. Y., John Vitolo, West Haven, Conn., and Joseph Andrews, Westbury.

To Visit Local Church

A missionary party directed by the Rev. J. C. Albright, superintendent of the New York district Church of the Nazarene, will visit the Nazarene Church of this city on Friday evening at 7:45 p. m. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Ida L. Murphy, district president of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, and the Rev. and Mrs. C. S. Jenkins, returned missionaries from Africa. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins are interesting speakers and having spent 21 years in Africa, speak from actual experience. The public is invited.

Democrat Named Judge

Raphael A. Egan, Democrat, was elected county judge of Orange county at the election Tuesday by a plurality of 2,766 votes. Judge Egan is the first Democrat elected to the Orange county judgeship since 1889 when John G. Wilkins of Middletown ended his tenure of office.

Renamed Mayor

William H. Schrauth, Republican candidate for mayor of Poughkeepsie, was re-elected mayor of that city Tuesday by a plurality of 1,356 votes, which was almost three times his plurality when elected to his first term in 1939.

ARDONIA

Ardonia, Nov. 6—School children enjoyed a brief vacation on Friday while teachers attended conference in New York.

Mrs. Eber Coy accompanied Mrs. Lillian Paltridge, Mrs. Burton Ward, Mrs. Preston Paltridge, Mrs. Fred Bernard, Mrs. Sime DuBois of the Public Health Nursing committee of the town of Plattekill to the Tuberculosis Hospital in Kingston, Monday afternoon. After inspecting the hospital equipment Dr. Stevens, resident physician, explained at length the value of X-rays, demonstrating with X-ray charts. The visiting committee was interested.

Mrs. Solomon Bernard, Mrs. Larry Quinlan and son, Michael, of Poughkeepsie, were callers in Modena Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ira Hyatt was chairman of the committee which served luncheon and supper at the hall Election Day.

The Home Bureau ladies will conduct a food demonstration meeting November 13. Mrs. Simon DuBois and Mrs. Orville Seymour will be in charge.

The Public Health Nursing Committee will hold its annual election of officers at the home of Mrs. S. DuBois.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or empty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Maroon Gridders Will Try To Regain Winning Form In Saturday's Local Game

Team Needs Win Badly to Retain Color for Turkey Day; Coach Stresses Drills

Kingston High School's football team will try to regain Saturday afternoon at municipal stadium when it tangles with the stubborn and power-laden Highland team. Game time is set for 2 o'clock.

By far, this has been one of the most disastrous seasons for a Maroon and White gridiron machine. The team has lost four out of five, the four defeats coming in a row after the Maroons licked Amsterdam in the opening tussle.

With the annual Turkey Day clash coming 12 days after, the Weemsmen must do something about this game on Saturday. Year in and year out the Thanksgiving Day encounter has been a "natural" and the grid fans have been fast to realize this.

However, this year's meeting of Newburgh and Kingston at municipal stadium will lack some color should Highland continue to put the skids on Kingston.

On the other hand, a win over the Hill City gridders would make the Turkey Day game one of the best attractions of the day.

No Easy Victory
Unlike former years the Highland-Kingston match won't be any pushover for the Maroons. Previously, the Maroons always had soft touch when they met Highland. Now, however, the Colonial City outfit will have its hands full in tackling this outstanding foe from Highland.

Coach Will Burke of Highland has come up with a stellar eleven this year, which has been the talk of this district. The team has won three, lost one and tied one. The team boasts of the top scorer in the area with Benny Bragg, full-back, who has counted 42 points this year. Bragg is the No. 1 threat for the Maroons to combat Saturday. Then the rest of the squad, leading from the linemen to the other members of the secondary, round out a well-balanced team.

Here in Kingston the Maroons have been trying to get along on an inexperienced team. To make matters worse, the club has suffered a number of injuries in the last couple of contests.

Coach Tommy Weems will have to rely on just about the same group of gridders who have seen action in the past games. However, the Maroon mentor might make a few replacements in hopes of snapping his boys out of the doldrums.

Kingston still has a few practice sessions left at the uptown ball park before Highland comes in Saturday afternoon. It is quite certain that Weems will not let his boys go along on a soft scale. Instead, the strenuous workouts which have marked this week's drills will be continued right up to the last minute.

Goal Man Saves Mate
It was a long chance that brought together two Southampton, England, football champions—Billy Bevis, outside right, and Alec Warnock, goalkeeper. Both went to sea, Bevis on a cargo ship and Warnock in the navy.

When the merchant ship was sunk Bevis and others struggled to get on a raft. A destroyer found them, and the first man Bevis saw when hauled aboard was Warnock—now paymaster lieutenant.

Final Drill Is Slated for Eagle Quintet Tonight

Polish Cagers Prepare for Wappingers Falls Game Tuesday Night; Are Out to Even Score

When White Eagle cagers will hold their last drill in preparation for the game Tuesday night with Wappingers Falls tonight at the Polish hall on Delaware avenue. All members of the team are requested to attend this practice. A short meeting will be held after the drill.

Tuesday's game with the Falls-men should prove a fast one from start to end. Wappingers have a strong lineup on the floor this year as last and figure to be a stiff test for the Eagles. Last year Wappingers scored a close win over the Eagles.

With the return to form of Nappa and the superb showing of Buboltz, the Eagles looked strong last week in humbling an outclassed but determined Wilbur quintet in easy fashion in their first actual competition of the season.

A few surprises might be expected from the other men on the roster. Last week Lou Albright took the scoring spotlight by collecting 18 points. He played a bang-up game all the way and proved that he will be one of the real mainstays this campaign.

Preceding the White Eagle-Wappingers Falls main contest at 8:30 o'clock, a prelim will be offered at 7:30 o'clock. Dancing will be held after the main game.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Nov. 6 (The Special News Service)—The golden ball is rolling . . . The Naismith Memorial committee, which is collecting cash for a "Temple of Basketball" to honor the inventor of the game, reports that more than 400 teams have listed "Golden Ball" games and will contribute the receipts . . . The D. C. Boxing Commission, trying to improve the quality of fight judging, has drafted Washington sports writers for the job. Bob Ruark, one of the first to serve, says he dreads to read what he will have to say about himself the first time he hands down a bum duke . . . The Fordham-Boston College football series, hot stuff a half dozen years ago, will be resumed next season now that the seven-year Fordham-Pitt hookup is running out in more ways than one . . . John Roxborough 2nd, nephew of Joe Louis' manager, is a miler on the Michigan track team.

Today's Guest Star

Nixon Denton, Cincinnati Times Star: "In 1939 the Cincinnati baseball club gave us for Christmas a cigar humidor. We don't smoke cigars."

"In 1940, we received a decanter set. We don't drink."

"And now Frank Grayson hints that this Christmas we may get a bath robe."

Hot Stove Warmup

Officially opening the hot stove league, drummer Bill Brandt announces that the 1942 rookie crop will be the best in National League history . . . How about Connie Mack's announcement that the Athletics will be in the race?

. . . Jim (Ripper) Collins of the Pirates has applied for the job of managing Portland's Coast League club. So has Truck Hannah, 1941 pilot of the Memphis Chicks . . . It Ted Williams gets the American League's most valuable player prize, the Red Sox will have three most valuable in camp next spring. Yank Terry of San Diego and Johnny Pesky of Louisville took the awards in their leagues . . . The Binghamton Eastern League franchise (owned by the Yanks) may go to Providence or Worcester next year . . . Tris Speaker, a draft board member himself, says Bobby Feller could get a deferred rating if he didn't think it was his duty to serve his term in the army.

Last Laugh

For the week's worst gag, we offer the observation of the guy who saw where John (wrong down) Getchell was the referee involved in that Northwestern-Minnesota argument and remarked: "Every time that guys works a game somebody's sure to get 'em."

Armstrong Decides To Quit Boxing in Order to Save Self

Triple Crown Winner Took Auto Accident of One Month Ago as His Warning to Stop

New Orleans, Nov. 6 (P)—Because he was the only one hurt in an automobile accident, Hammering Henry Armstrong of the triple crown has given up all thought of returning to the ring in which he won nearly 300 fights.

"I sort of took it as a warning," said the only man who has ever held three world boxing titles at once. "I've been appearing in some exhibitions and thought if I felt all right in those bouts I'd try a comeback."

"But a month ago in Oklahoma our auto turned over. I broke my finger and nobody else was hurt. My finger's all right, but that incident decided me. For the first time I say definitely I'm not going to fight any more."

"I don't want to tear down with one poor fight the reputation I built up in 12 years."

In partnership with Freddie Sonny of Los Angeles, Henry is managing a stable of fighters and is here with Mike Delia, 19-year-old lightweight, for a match with Irish Bobby Ruffin Monday night.

Navy Goes on Record Not To Play Post-Season Games

Middies Have Been Tabbed as Possible Rose Bowl Contenders; Texas Takes Attention

Los Angeles, Nov. 6 (P)—Rose Bowl stock of the University of Texas took a jump today—whether it's a safe buy remains to be seen, however—with the disclosure that the Navy is on record as opposing at least one proposed post-season appearance by the Annapolis Middies.

Secretary Knox, no less, wrote a letter and combined with it a recommendation by the superintendent of the Naval Academy which turned thumbs down on a proposed game between the Navy and the champion Army team in California or an All-star aggregation of service men in training out here.

The rejection did not apply to the Rose Bowl game, but the reason given for the official decision govern a Rose Bowl invitation, if and when extended. Harry Myers, American Legion executive, had been toying with an idea of matching Navy against a service team yet to be selected.

He asked Secretary Knox if the Academy might be obtained.

Secretary Knox Replies

The secretary's reply was a definite "no." He quoted the Academy superintendent as saying: "The final game of the regular varsity season is scheduled November 29, 1941, against the United States Military Academy at Philadelphia. The present midshipmen of the first class (seniors) due to early graduation, will leave the Naval Academy on December 19, 1941, for duty in the fleet. "As there are several members of the first class on the varsity squad, these players would not be able to compete in the proposed game."

"Due to increased academic demands on all midshipmen in the present emergency, any time lost from classes or drills is a decided handicap."

"In view of the above, it is recommended that the request x x x not be approved."

Secretary Knox added, "x x x I regret to state that it is not possible to comply with your request."

The midshipmen have been mentioned as a prominent possibility for a Rose Bowl appearance, even if they lose a game, and it's a good guess that certain Pacific Coast Conference schools would like to invite the Navy to Pasadena New Year's Day.

The Longhorns of Texas, voted the nation's top team in the Associated Press poll last week-end, meanwhile will be regarded more than ever as a leading contender for a Rose Bowl bid.

Maori Sent Rare Birds

Among purchases made recently by the New Zealand National Patriotic Board were over 2,000 mutton birds, or South Sea petrels, considered a delicacy by natives. They were bought from a firm at Bluff and canned for shipment to the Maori Battalion overseas.

He Sinks Putt for $48
Archie Compston, the British golfer, sank a long putt to win more cash in a War Weapons Week professional match at Malden, England. In all he raised $124 on the golf balls he used. The best bid for the ball with which he last played was $24. He increased this to $48 by asking the buyer to pay double if he holed a putt of eight yards. Archie holed the putt.

College Backs of '41 Season Prove Better Ground Gainers

Figures Show Tom Harmon and Others Would Trail Bill Dudley in This Year's Ranking

Seattle, Nov. 6 (AP)—A year ago Tom Harmon of Michigan and Al Ghesquiere of Detroit were hailed as the nation's most prodigious football ground gainers, but maybe it's just as well the boys have graduated.

Because American Football Statistical Bureau figures released today show that they would be trailing a threesome consisting of Bill Dudley of Virginia, Elmer Madarik of Detroit and Frankie Sinkwich of Georgia.

At this stage last year Harmon was the nominal total offensive leader with 833 yards from rushing and passing. This year the three leaders are Dudley with 1,173 yards; Madarik with 1,131 and Sinkwich with 1,003, putting Harmon 180 yards behind the third man.

Ghesquiere last year led the rushers with 617 yards. This year Sinkwich has gained 655 for the same period, despite playing with a broken jaw.

Shoots for Record
Dave Allerdice of Princeton was pacing the 1940 passers with 51 completions out of 103 attempts. This year Owen "Muggsy" Price of Texas Mines has completed 63 of 135. Price is shooting for Davey O'Brien's modern record established in 1938 when he completed 93 of 167 for Texas Christian. Price has more attempts and completions per game for his five games than had O'Brien.

Only in punting does the 1941 top figure fail to measure up to that of 1940, but even there it's the same leader, something the bureau says is unusual in its experience. The leading punter in each season was and is this same Owen Price. Last year his average for 26 punts was a phenomenal 48.15 yards. This year it's 44.90 for 31 boots.

Henry Stanton of Arizona usurped this week's pass receiving lead, catching 23 for 451 yards. Last year's leader at this time was Bill Jennings of Oklahoma who had 19 for 252 yards.

Catholic A.A. Will Organize Tonight

Cage League Is Expected to Start Next Week

At 8 o'clock tonight the Board of Governors of the Catholic Athletic Association will meet with the captains of the society basketball teams. Final plans will be set for the opening of the league next Tuesday.

Through the cooperation of the Kingston Recreation Department the association has been allotted the Myron J. Michael School gym for Tuesday nights.

It is expected that eight or more teams will compete in this year's loop to try for the coveted Father Roth Trophy. St. Mary's quintet now holds the award.

All members of the Board of Governors and all interested in the formation of the loop are invited to attend.

Some plants in Japan have discontinued night shifts because of shortage of materials and labor, the Department of Commerce reports.

PHOENICIA

Phoenicia, Nov. 4—W. McGrath, Jr., has purchased the McGrath farm house and will rebuild it. W. Berryann and family who occupied it have moved into a house of Mrs. George Baldwin.

Mrs. Schibner after spending a few days here returned to the city. Arlene Schoonmaker gave a Halloween party for her friends Friday afternoon. Those present were: Jacquelyn Loomis, Beverly Smith, Nancy Short, Scotty Slicker, Burdett Booth, Edwin Gale, Donna and John Schoonmaker.

Frank Neice is giving his house a new coat of paint. Edwin McGrath, who is staying with his grandparents, has returned from visiting his people in Rensselaer.

A chimney fire in the Elvey home was checked by the firemen early Saturday morning. C. P. Pender and family occupy the house. Alonzo Gale attended the Halloween party and dance at Tannersville, Friday evening.

Mrs. W. Rider expects to join her husband in Connecticut where he has employment.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Breithaupt, his mother and sister are now at their place in Miami.

Trooper Dunn visited the school and told the children about having a Halloween evening without doing harmful things. The children paraded in costume visiting different places where they were treated to candy and gum. The people appreciated the fact that the winners were not marked as formerly causing the extra work of cleaning them.

H. Boice is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Lorin Riley, at Highmount.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Batchford of Woodland, are spending a few days in Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. E. B. Miller of Woodland was caller in the village.

Charles Herdman of Connecticut visited his people here.

The government of Peru is studying the possibilities of establishing a local rubber industry, the Department of Commerce reported.

At 9 o'clock the curtain will rise for the stage show with music by the orchestra under the leadership of Jacob Mollott. At 10 o'clock, dancing will begin with the second orchestra being led by Phil Toffel and alternating with the orchestra under the baton of Jacob Mollott.

At 11 o'clock promptly a "tableaux" depicting the Legion's tribute to the "Unknown Soldier" and written especially for the occasion by Legionnaire William T. Jordan, will be presented.

Thereafter, dancing will be the order of the night.

Beer production in Brazil totals about 50 million gallons annually, the Department of Commerce reports.

Bill Is Completed For Legion Event

Acts Will Include Many Topnotch Vaudeville and Radio Stars

Legion Commander Stanley H. Dempsey has received a contract from Al Rogers Agency in New York city, through the committee for the entertainment at the American Legion ball, Tuesday night.

The committee headed by the chairman, Arthur Fox, and including Myer Kaplan, Edward J. Hillis, Sam Peyer, Eugene MacConnell and Albert N. Cook, has returned from New York with the assurance that the stage show booked will bring to Kingston outstanding celebrities within the field of screen, stage and radio.

The committee has been careful in choosing the master of ceremonies and report that Mr. Kennedy of the New York team, Kennedy and Fox, will fill the role of moderator.

Miss Wini Shaw, starring in "The Lady in Red," will appear on the program in her characterization of songs which are new. On the same program, Claire and Arnet of St. Moritz Hotel in New York and of the LeMartiniere, will give their sensational dancing novelties.

Another highlight, will be the appearance of the Barbary Coast Boys, stars of Billy Rose's productions. They will present old and new melodies. Kennedy and Fox will offer their comedy skit, "Make Me Laugh." A surprise number is also scheduled.

Two local bands will entertain the Legion's guests. The bands are under the direction of Jacob Mollott and Phil Toffel. Mr. Mollott will lead in the concert which is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock, with guest artists, Al Rossi and his son, Myron Rossi, known as the "Swiss Boy."

At 9 o'clock the curtain will rise for the stage show with music by the orchestra under the leadership of Jacob Mollott. At 10 o'clock, dancing will begin with the second orchestra being led by Phil Toffel and alternating with the orchestra under the baton of Jacob

Attack on Duce Is Not Confirmed

The Associated Press has found no confirmation of a rumor that Premier Mussolini has been slightly wounded in an assassination attempt in which two pistol shots were fired.

In Rome the rumor was authoritatively denied and called "an invention." It was stated in Rome that a similar report was denied two days ago and that since then the premier has received several persons at his office.

The rumor was published in London by Exchange Telegraph, which quoted the Moscow radio as its source.

visited Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stauffer on Tuesday and attended the election supper at the Reformed Church with them.

Mrs. Clarence Ronk entertained at a surprise birthday party at her home on Saturday afternoon for her daughter, Marilyn. She was 11 years old Sunday and was much surprised. Each guest brought a gift, and after games with prizes, refreshments were served from a prettily decorated table and included a large birthday cake. Guests present were Joan Hammesfahr, Joyce McHugh, Audrey Caswell, Alma and Doris Brown, Louise Van Alst, Marie Jansen, Betty Teller, Patsy Terwilliger, Margaret Brach, Mrs. C. E. Terwilliger and Miss Jeanette Terwilliger.

Marilyn Ronk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ronk of Wallkill, will sing over the radio station WGNV, Newburgh, on Tuesday afternoon, November 11 (Armistice Day) at 4:15 o'clock. She will sing Brahms' "Lullaby," "I Dream of Jeanie," "Flowers That Bloom in the Spring," and "Cribbabin," accompanied at the piano by her teacher, Mrs. Robert Johnston of Newburgh.

About 25 people of Wallkill, Shawangunk, New Hurley and Modena gathered at the high school on Monday evening and organized a community chorus, which will be directed by Byron Clark, music supervisor of the school. This chorus will meet every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Wallkill Central School. Anyone who likes to sing is urged to come out next Tuesday and join the chorus.

Cited for Promotion
Lieut. John A. Bole, Jr., of Wallkill, is one of the 463 officers in the U. S. Navy, who has received President Roosevelt's approval for promotion to lieutenant commander, according to an Associated Press dispatch today. The names of the 463 officers were contained in a list of recommendations of a selection board for promotion of the U. S. Navy.
